ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The present work, a thesis on domestic violence on married women with special reference to the city of Guwahati and the Response of the State to it, owes its completion to the valuable contribution of many people. This is a humble attempt at expressing my gratitude to them all.

I am deeply indebted to my guide, Dr. Niru Hazarika for her supervisory guidance and valuable advice. She not only allowed me maximum freedom in conducting the investigation and to state the problem as I best understood it but also constantly monitored the progress of the work in order to keep it firmly on track. I am indeed grateful to her for giving me her valuable time, guidance and comments.

I also extend my sincere gratitude to the teaching staff of the Department of Political Science, Gauhati University, and especially to Dr. Anuradha Dutta, for their ever-motivating suggestions and encouragement. I am indebted to the librarians and the staff of the Women Research Centre (G.U), the K. K. Handique Library (GU), the O.K.D Institute Library, the Administrative Staff College Library, the NIPCCD Library, the National Library (Kolkata), the British Council Library (Kolkata) and the J.N.U Library (Delhi).

I acknowledge my sincere gratitude to the police department, Guwahati city; the CJM Court, Kamrup; the Family Court, Kamrup; the Sessions Court, Kamrup; the State Legal Services Authority, Assam; the Assam
State Commission for Women; the Assam Human Rights Commission; Assam Pradeshik Mahila Samity, Guwahati; the Family Counselling centre, CID Headquarters, Guwahati; and Nirmal Ashray. (Short-stay Home) Guwahati for their co-operation and help.

I owe greatly to my husband, who suggested the present problem as a field of research and helped me at almost all stages in formulating and articulating the problem. I also want to thank my two daughters who have extended moral and visible support in completing my thesis. But for the help and cooperation of my husband and daughters, I would have been at a loss in this task.

A deep sense of gratitude goes to my parents and parents-in-law. I honestly believe that it is due to their blessings that I have been able to complete my research work. My three sisters and brother were a constant source of motivation and support. I would like to acknowledge their great contribution to this work.

As this work reaches its completion, I take this opportunity to thank one and all who have in any way contributed to my research work. Without them all it would not have been possible.
