I owe my deep gratitude and intellectual debt to Dr. Radharaman Chakrabarti, formerly Professor and Head of the Department of Political Science, the University of Burdwan and at present the Director, Netaji Institute for Asian Studies, Calcutta, who inspired me to take up the work, supervised it and provided thorough guidance in respect of the whole work and had very valuable comments to make on the theoretical framework.

I am immensely indebted to Prof. Harasankar Bhattacharyya, Principal, T.D.B. College, Ranigunj, who actually suggested the subject and gave many helpful directions from time to time. Debts of gratitude are also due to Prof. M.C.Chanda, Head of the Department of Law, the University of Burdwan whose suggestions gave me a good deal of inspiration.

My thanks go to my friend Sri Kamala Kanta Das who helped me in proof reading and to Sri B.Ghatak who carefully typed the manuscript.
