CONTENTS

CHAPTER I

1. The Cooperative Movement in the Perspective of Economic Development
   - Identification of factors responsible for failure of agriculture—structural functional relationship of agricultural growth to cooperative management — an alternative model: P. 2-49
   - Problems of cooperative administration and the functional autonomy of the cooperative organisation: P. 50-83
   - The place of the cooperative movement in the national policy — the constraints towards planned development: P. 84-97
   - Crux of the administrative problems in redesigning rural development — a strategic perspective: P. 98-103
   - The political forces and the social context: P. 103-110

CHAPTER II

2. Cooperative Activities and Planned Development
   - The emergence of a cooperative sector for the industries and its role vis-a-vis state enterprises: P. 111-120
Cooperative as an instrument of economic planning : P. 121-129

Erratic policy planning in respect of the cooperative sector - their inter-relationships and sphere of interaction and results - projection of agriculture-credit investment during the eighties : P. 130-183

Annual Plan for 1980-81 in West Bengal, problems and prospects : P. 184-193

CHAPTER - III

Cooperative Agricultural Credit and the role of Cooperative Finance

Nature, Characteristics and Magnitude of rural poverty - credit need of the farmers : P. 199-205

Agricultural Credit - growth rate of flow of production credit through the cooperative sector : P. 205-218

Multi-agency approach - projection of credit disbursal during 1980-1990 : P. 218-224

Re-orientation of cooperative credit structure - problem of overdues and solution : P. 225-257

Role and sphere of activity of the ARDC and the Reserve Bank of India in the sphere of cooperative credit : P. 258-280

Reasons for mounting overdues in West Bengal and other States : P. 281-294
III

Productivity and operational efficiency of cooperative-banks : P. 295-311
Management of cooperative banks : P. 311-314

CHAPTER - IV

Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Societies - Structure, Function and Administrative Control

Programme during the Five Year Plans : P. 315-334
Problems of coordination with FCI, JCI & Fertiliser Corporation of India - the gaps and measures to resolve those : P. 334-375
Activities of the West Bengal Cooperative Marketing Federation Ltd. - problems and solution thereof : P. 376-393

CHAPTER - V

The Cooperative Administration Vis-a-vis the Autonomy of the Cooperative Societies

Nature, Scope and extent of the dichotomy, impact of political coterie of vested interests : P. 394-410
Social accountability vis-a-vis administrative accountability : P. 411-498
Resolving the conflict - an alternative strategy : P. 498-523

BIBLIOGRAPHY : 524-536