

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This work was undertaken by me for the Ph.D. Degree of University of Bardwan under the supervision of Prof. M.R.Choudhuri, M.A., D.Litt., Head of the Department of Geography, Bardwan University.

This work grew up with the assistance and co-operation from different important persons, institutions and organisations. Among all these, I am most particularly grateful to my Prof. Dr. Chaudhuri, whose vast knowledge and experience has inspired me in every step of my work and guided me for the scheme of the study, matter association, statistical analysis and interpretation of data. I wish to express my deep sense of gratitude to him.

Among the institutional support, Directorate of Cotton Development, Bombay, Directorate of Industries, Maharashtra, Department of Agriculture, Pune, Maharashtra, Soil Survey Department, Nagpur, The East India Cotton Association Limited, Bombay and the Indian Cotton Mills Federation are few important institutions, worth mentioning. The help rendered by the officers in charge in various Departments in supplying basic materials for the preparation of this research work is gratefully acknowledged.

A good deal of institutional and technical support were provided by Mr. J. Datta, Regional Manager, Indian Petrochemicals Corporation Ltd., Calcutta and Mr. M. Bagchi of Indian Institute for the Cultivation of Science. I gratefully acknowledge their help.

I am also grateful to Maharaj of Ramkrishna Mission, Khar, Bombay for accommodating me in his Guest House during my different field tours in Bombay. Through him, I had been introduced to Maharaj of Nagpur in the preparation of some of my papers there. I owe much for the same to the Superintendent of Post & Telegraphs, Pune.

Thanks are also due to the Librarians of National Library, Calcutta, Commercial & Intelligence Library, Calcutta and also to the Librarian of National Atlas & Thematic Mapping Organisation, Calcutta. All of them have rendered me a valuable service by supplying books and bulletins.

Besides these, various office staff of various Block Development Office and District Board Offices of Maharashtra extended their services for preparation of my research work. I am also grateful to Mr. G.N. Hazra, Mr. Sanat Roy of National Atlas and Mr. P. Besra for their technical help.

Finally, I wish to express my gratitude to the Director, National Atlas Organisation for giving me permission to submit my work and also to the authorities of Bardwan University for permitting me to complete my work on this problem.
