III. Burdwan Collectorate Records Room:

Chalan or accounts and receipts: Patni Sale Records, Quinquennial
Register, List of all properties, paying land revenue revised every five years. Quinquennial papers. Traided or Rent free estates.

Estate bundle or Touzi Records originally 6900 bundles 400 removed to Bankura and Hooghly. Touzi no. registered in the name of Burdwan Raj, shown Burdwan Raj Estate no. 2 subleased by pattani (patni) to the Raja of Uttarpara.
Most Estate Records of this collectorate belonged to the Burdwan Raj, but they revealed these estates to be sub-leased to various sub-infeudatory pattanidar or darpattanidars.
Register of Lakhiraj lands, list of Rent free lands Daul and Kistbandi. Decennial Settlement papers. Word's records, papers of Word's estate administered by the Collector of Burdwan.
Old English Correspondence, 1786-1820.

IV. Bankura Collectorate Record Room:

Old English Correspondence 1800-1847. Bankura was originally a magistracy, not a Collectorate and revenue jurisdiction of Bishnupur, part of the magistracy belonged to Burdwan. The old district correspondence of this district, therefore, was different in nature from that of other districts and full of long and informative reports, not concerned so much with the details of the revenue business as with land disputes, rural control and local political organisations.

Touzi Records: Touzi No. 1, originally Bishnupur Estate bundle and contained very old Persian documents. Touzi No. 72, appertains to be a resumed Lakhiraj Estate of which Bishnupur family retained possessions. The big touzi all belonged to the Burdwan Raj and indicate subleasing to pattanidar or darpattanidar. The Touzies are full of Talukdari decree cases i.e., suits filed by the Burdwan Raj for the sale of pattani or darpattani regulation and Lakhiraj (rent free) claimed against the Talukdars by local tenants. The absentee Talukdar class of Bankura was apparently subject to dual pressures from above and below and not surprisingly, the composition of the class was constantly changing. Quinquennial receipts of 1795, Records of Quinquennial Register of 1882. No further quinquennial registers were made in this district and some failure to bring the register up-to-date every five years with the purpose of keeping track of changes in landed property occurred in all districts of Bengal. The quinquennial register of 1795, has the following heads: Name of Parganas, Name of Zamindar or Talukdar, Name of jaradars (revenue farmer) and darbasti jumma which included muffossil charges of collection (Saranjami) and proprietor's allowance (Malikana).

V. Birbhum District Collectorate Room:
Old English Correspondence 1786-1837.
Touzi Records: Touzies of Birbhum district are full of persian and Bengali documents.
