Acknowledgement

First of all, I am deeply indebted to my teacher Professor Sibnath Sarma, Department of Philosophy, Gauhati University, under whose guidance and constant encouragement it has been possible for me to complete this work. I also express my gratitude to my teachers Professor D.K. Chakravarty, Professor N Sharma, Professor G Sarma, Professor M Boruah (Head of the Department of philosophy) Dr B.B. Banu, Dr S.P Goswami, Department of Philosophy, Gauhati University for their suggestions and inspiration.

I offer my sincere thanks to Principal Suresh Goswami of Lakhimpur Kendriya Mahavidyalaya who has inspired me to complete this work. I also offer my heartfelt thanks to my friend Sri Bimal Chandra Gogoi for his encouragement.

During the tenure of my research, I have used K.K Handique Library of Gauhati University as the major research place. I express my gratitude to the Librarian of Gauhati University Library for giving me a chance of borrowing books from the Library in continuing my work. I also convey my thankfulness to the Library staff for their remarkable help and co-operation.

I have attended the ICPR (Indian Council of Philosophical Research) Library, Lucknow, and collected many books and journals related to my topic. I express my gratitude to the Librarian of ICPR Library for his help and suggestion. I also offer my thankfulness to the Library staff for their ungrudging help and co-operation.

I have also collected some important books related to the topic from the National Library, Kolkata. I express my thankfulness to the Librarian and Library staff of the National Library. I owe a great deal of gratitude to the Last, but not the least my thanks are due to Sri Bhisma Upadhyaya who has typed the thesis within a short period inspite of his different pre-occupation.

(Sibaraj Chetry)