ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I have received generous help from many quarters in conducting the research work and in getting all the relevant information from them. I have the pleasure to put on record my gratitude to all of them.

I am profoundly grateful my distinguished teacher and research guide Dr. Hemkanta Baruah, D. Litt., Professor, Faculty of Commerce, Gauhati University, who, inspite of his multifarious activities has supervised my research work. He has gone through my papers at all stages of data collection, field survey, investigation and examination of primary and secondary sources of materials, he inspired me all through my work by constantly helping me to improve upon my work. I am really indebted to him and record my gratitude to him.

I am also indebted to all the government officials of the Directorate of Sericulture, Assam; Asst. Director of Sericulture, Kamrup; specially Shri S. P. Nandy, Director, Sericulture, Assam; Dr. J.V. Krishna Rao, Joint Director, Central Silk Board, Banglore, Karnataka; Mrs. Girija Devi, P.O., UNICEF, Kolkata; Sri Om Prakash, Director, NIRD, Guwahati; Sri S. N. Mishra, Asst. Director, DCTSC, Sualkuchi; Sri D. K. Sarma, Asst. Director, Sericulture, Kamrup; Dr. P. K. Das, Joint Director, RMRS, Boko; Sri C. K. Dihingia, Dy. Director, Sericulture, Assam; Sri Moloy Borah, Joint Director, P&RD, Guwahati; Sri S.C. Jain, Director, Weavers Service Centre, Assam; for furnishing necessary information and valuable suggestions for this work.

I feel obliged to all respected teachers specially Prof. D.D. Bharali, Prof. G. C. Deka, Head of the Department of Commerce, G. U. and Prof. N. C. Das, faculty of Commerce, Gauhati University for valuable suggestions in carrying out this work.
I am also grateful to Late U.C. Talukdar, Ex-Principal, A.C. Thakuria Commerce College, Bijoynagar, who had led the light to move forward in my life and inspired me in undertaking the research work.

My teacher colleagues have been a source of inspiration and confidence in me and I acknowledged gratitude to them. Mr. Jatin Rajbangshi, Mr. Samiran Sarma, Mr. Jeherul Islam, Mr. Tapan Das, Mr. Nayanmoni Baishya and Mr. Champak Das deserve special mention in this regard.

I am also indebted to my father Sri Kanak Chandra Das and mother Sri Gangabala Das and other family members. I am grateful to Mrs. Meera Baruah, wife of my respected guide; Mr. Dilip Kumar Chaudhary, Mrs. Basanti Chaudhary, Mr. Amrit Thakuria, Mr. Chandrakanta Nath, Majani, Baba, Bhaity and Pitu for their cooperation, help and encouragement during the course of my study which enable me to complete the work.

My sincere thanks to my respected Sir Mr. Umesh Talukdar, Mr. M. C. Barman, Mr. A. Haloi of Nalbari Commerce College, Nalbari for their perennial inspiration to complete this work.

I also express my sincere thanks to Mr. Abani Kumar Gogoi, Paragon D.T.P. Centre, Gopinath Bordoloi Road, Ambari, for Computerising work of this thesis.

Dilip Chandra Das