ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I had the privilege to carry out my research work under the supervision of Dr. Man Singh, Professor and Head, Department of Psychology, Gauhati University, Guwahati. He has been my teacher, my mentor and very cordial person to work with. His dynamism and interest were the main driving forces to bring this research work to its completion. I feel especially indebted to him for his constant encouragement.
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Besides my supervisor, Prof. Man Singh, I also take this opportunity to express my deep sense of gratitude to Dr. Pramod Kumar, Professor and Head, Department of Psychology, Sardar Patel University, Vallabh Vidyanagar, Gujarat, who has worked extensively in the area of marital adjustment; for his suggestions during the entire period of my research work and specially during my study trip to Gujarat. I sincerely express my thanks to him for extremely useful discussions and providing literature pertaining to my area of study.

I am also obliged to Dr. Jayashree Dhyani, Department of Psychology, Sardar Patel University, Vallabh Vidyanagar, Gujarat for her help on my visit.

I owe a special debt to Professor A.S. Patel, Ex. Head of the Department of Psychology and Dean of faculty of Psychology and Education, M.S. University, Baroda, who inspired me during my stay in Baroda and took extra pains in guiding in the statistical part of my thesis and also giving his valuable suggestions. I pay my humble respect to the great teacher.

I am grateful for the suggestions received from Mr. Gautam Choudhury, Lecturer of Statistics, B. Baruaah College, Guwahati.

I am grateful to Dr. Lok Nath Singh, Head of the Department of Psychology, North Eastern Hill University, Aizwal, for his valuable help.

I express my indebtedness to Dr. O.P. Singh, Reader, Department of Psychology, Gauhati University for his persistent encouragement and cooperation right from the conception of the project till its end.

My thanks are also due to Dr. N.C. Das and Dr. Indranee Phookan, Lecturers, Department of Psychology, Gauhati University, for their help and encouragement during the course of my work.
I thank Ms. Manideepa Baruah, Part-time lecturer in Psychology, Department of psychology, Gauhati University, and also a very close friend of mine for her encouragement and moral support throughout the entire span of my research work.

I take this opportunity to thank Professor K.P. Bora, the founder of the Department of Psychology, Gauhati University, Mrs. Reeta Kakoti and Dr. R.N. Pathak, Part time lecturers in the Department of Psychology, for their encouragement and good wishes.

Besides the teaching staff of the Department, I cannot fail to recognize the support from Mr. Nripendra Nath, Technical assistant along with Mr. Atul Das and Mr. Jagadish Deka of the Department.

I also thank my friend, Dr. Anju Mathur, for all the good wishes she has for me.

I am failing in my duty if I do not acknowledge the help I received from the staffs of the various libraries that helped in providing me the references. I am particularly grateful to the staffs of National Library of Calcutta, Hansa Mehta Library, M.S. University, Baroda, Departmental library of Psychology, M.S. University, Baroda, the library of S.P. University, Vallabh Vidyanagar, Gujarat, American Library, Delhi, American Library, Calcutta, and British Library, Calcutta.

Thanks are also due to the respondents who co-operated with me in collecting the data for the study and without whose cooperation it would have not been possible to complete the project.

I express my sincere thanks to Dr. R.N. Sharma, Scientist, who contributed much in the printing of my thesis. Thanks are also due to Ms Nilima Devi for patiently printing all the drafts and the final version on computer and Mr. Debojyati Chakravarty for preparing the graphical presentations in the computer.

I cannot close without mentioning others outside the scholarly orbit whose inestimable help deserves acknowledgement.
I am grateful to my uncle, Mr. Narayan Chandra Barkataki for his valuable help in printing the questionnaires, providing me mental support and for keeping my morale high.

A very special thanks goes to Mr. Kartik Barkataki and Mrs. Purnima Barkataki for their warm hospitality on my study trip to Baroda. Mr. Rajeev Barkataki and Mr. Sanjeev Barkataki helped in ways, I cannot describe, at the same time will not forget.

A special thanks also goes to my brother-in-law, Dr. Kalpajeet Nath and my sister, Dr. Geeta Nath for their immense support during my stay in Delhi.

I also express my gratitude to my brother-in-law, Mr. Ajit Baruah for providing me with copies and cards of reference for writing the thesis.

I thank my friend, Ms. Meenakshi Goswami, Lecturer in English, Pragjyotish College for assisting me in proof reading part of the thesis.

I also thank Ms. Rajalakshmi Borpujari for her help and company during the course of my data collection.

I am thankful to all my relatives, friends and neighbours for their encouragement and support.

My special thanks are due to my brother-in-law, Mr. Anal Bezbaruah and my sister, Mrs. Paparee Bezbaruah, who provided me constant inspiration and support during the whole study. Without their help, completion of this work might have been rather difficult for me.

I am not able to describe the contribution of my sister, Ms. Maitrayee Barthakur, though I feel it in my heart.

I feel that without the blessings of my parents it would not have been possible for me to complete this work for whom I am and will ever be indebted.

(Pallavi Barthakur)