

PREFACE

Governing the economies of finance is a pre-requisite of any business concern to be said sound financially and managerially. The managerial decisions dealt with acquisition of finance; and financing both long-term and short-term assets of a business concern. Inflow and outflow of funds and their effects on the defined objectives of a business concern is the function of financial management. The resources that require for running a manufacturing company are meant for production, marketing and financing. However, every aspect of the business concern revolves around finance. Therefore, knowing financial management with an analytical insight to make sound and healthy decisions is immense in today's business world. This objective has been analysed by examining the working the Super Spinning Group of Mills during a decade period i.s., 1994-04.
