ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The largest share of my thanks must go to number of people who cheerfully and enthusiastically encouraged and helped me in my endeavour to undertake the study of socio-economic-political profile of the rural Christians in the border belt of Punjab especially in Amritsar and Gurdaspur Districts.

In cherish whole heatedly the singular commitment, scholarly understanding and the stimulating guidance of Dr. Jagrup Singh Sekhon – Professor, Department of Political Science, Guru Nanak Dev University, Amritsar. He directed and motivated me to take up the field study in right earnest to gauge the magnitude of the subjects. I owe a great deal of gratitude to him for the most interesting instructions for which I really benefited greatly.

I remember with gratitude the help that was extended to me by my immediate superiors under whom I am working. I wish to thank Rt. Rev. Dr. Symphorian Keeprath (Bishop Emeritus, Diocese of Jalandhar), Rt. Rev. Dr. Anil Couto (Bishop of Jalandhar), Catholic Priests who are working in the Diocese of Jalandhar and also in Pakistan, and the well-meaning people who helped in the collection of the data. I also wish to thank the teaching and non-teaching staff of Trinity College, Jalandhar for rendering to me the valuable and constructive support to me in the pursuit of my research.

I wish to express my profound gratitude to the teachers of the Department of Political Science and my friends in the department for their valuables suggestions and timely help. I also wish to thank the non-teaching staff of the Department of Political Science for their affection.

I am thankful to the Librarians of Seramphore Christian College, Calcutta, Baring Christian College, Batala, Holy Trinity Major Seminary, Jalandhar, Theological College, Gujanwala, Archdiocese of Lahore, Diocese of Jalandhar and many other institutions who made their facilities available to complete this research.

I am indebted to my loving parents, sisters, brothers and all those people who blessed me with good wishes for the completion of my research.

I also wish to make a mention of the Supertek Computers, (Near G.N.D. University), where the final draft of the thesis was prepared. They deserved my thanks.
