ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First of all, I would like to acknowledge the fact that this scholarly work is the result of the supportive and encouraging role played by the Department of Political Science at the Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda, Vadodara. It was in the middle of 1998 that, I thought of doing some research work in a subject related with Social Sciences and by chance, walked in to the office of the Head of Department: and met Professor D H Mohite and Professor H C Shukul. After an interesting discussion and some more visits, I was advised to choose such a topic in which I am emotionally and mentally involved so that, an acceptable scholarly work can be produced. Thus came up the subject for my research work: “SELF-RELIANCE IN DEFENCE PRODUCTION_MYTH OR REALITY?” Thereafter, Professor H C Shukul kindly accepted to be my guide.

I seize these pleasant moments to express my profound sense of gratitude and sincere appreciation to my Guiding Supervisor, Professor H C Shukul, Head of Department of Political Science for his valuable guidance and extremely helpful attitude. His generous encouragement, smiling face and optimistic approach helped me a lot in producing this humble scholarly work. My experience with him over the last three years showed clearly his absolute readiness to help, care and encourage. Our discussions did not remain confined to defence studies but varied on a wide range of subjects like politics, social sciences and spiritual matters. I do really appreciate his way of dealing as a Professor as well as a gentle human being.

I also wish to thank Professor Thomas Pantham, Professor Nalin Anadkat, Professor P M Patel, Professor A M Mavalankar, Shri Sivanand Patnaik, Shri Amit Dholakia, Dr. Thomas George, Dr. Lajwanti Chatani and Dr. Shailendra Thakor for their moral help and encouragement. Further, I extend my thanks to all non-teaching staff in the Department including, Shri VM Karandikar, Shri Tejas Pandya and Shri Jagannath Dalvi. And of course, special thanks from the bottom of my heart go to my staff at Defence Standardisation Cell,
Dehra Dun who have done an extremely fantastic job in helping me in getting this thesis together in black and white.

I am indebted to many libraries and academic institutions that provided me with all available primary and secondary source data required by this research. Most notably, I would like to acknowledge the services given by Smt Hansa Mehta Library of the M S University of Baroda; Institute for Defence Studies and Analysis, New Delhi; and EME School Library, Vadodara.

Last but not the least, I do remember all members of my family for their moral support; Sagar and Akash pushed me ahead to complete the thesis in time, Geeta gave me the benefit of sharing her invaluable experiences on such projects and Neeru helped me in giving the finishing touches.

Lt Col YASHAVANT JOSHI
Dehra Dun-248005
Uttaranchal State
INDIA