ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Today I am remembering several individuals, who helped me, for my Ph.d. work.

First, I want to thank Dr. Chitra Sohoni, my guide. She is an ideal teacher and a person, too. Her viewpoint towards any type of work or study will inspire me a whole life.

I am thankful to Dr. Leena Deshpande, an ex-principal of S N D J T. women’s university. Her inspiration is valuable for me.

Prof. Ramesh Panse, an educationist; he gave me new direction for the research subject. I am really grateful for him.

The group of professors of S N D J T. University is most excellent. Their motivation is so precious. Dr. Mridula Ranade and Dr. Neha Dev’s advice was important for the thesis. Varsha Vam a helped a lot for suggesting different types of books. Thanks to all the staff members!
I was implemented the program in Municipal school – H.G. Jagtap Vidyalay. I am thankful to the teacher of first standard – Vrinda Latkar and ex-head mistress Lata Raval. I am also thankful to B.G. Jagtap Vidyalay and their staff. I always remember all the sweet and small girl students of the schools. They taught me so many things.

The experts gave such a valuable suggestions for the study. Madhav Rajguru, A diti Nathu, Uma Kelakar, Sopan Bandavane made the study enriched.

Family support and their encouragement are most important in the whole process. My grandmother – Late Kamla Panse is an important person in my life. Her memories are so motivational. I am thankful to my sister Prerna Nagnath for raising me. My father Subhash Panse and husband Ibrahim Khan’s support is very important. Tanvee and Raahiee are my first participants in the whole process. Especially I am thankful to Prakash Nagnath for his great help.

The discussions with friends are essential part. Sharing with Aparna Kulkarni, Ashwini Shiakhare, Prasad M anerkar provided me insight and lots of energy.

Thanks to all!

Shruti Panse
