I would like to express my deepest gratitude and appreciation to my research supervisor, Dr. K. Akhilender Naidu, Scientist, Dept. of Biochemistry and Nutrition, Central Food Technological Research Institute, Mysore 570 020, India for his able guidance and support. The freedom of work provided by him was unforgettable.

I am grateful to Dr. V. Prakash, Director, Central Food Technological Research Institute, Mysore for allowing me to do my Ph.D., in this great institution with state of the art facilities and infrastructure. I feel honoured by working in this institute.

I would like to thank Dr. S.G. Bhat former Head of the department and Dr. P.V. Salimath Head of the department of Biochemistry and Nutrition, CFTRI, Mysore, for their encouragement and support.

I gratefully acknowledge Dr. M.C. Varadaraj, Head, Human Resources Development Department, CFTRI, Mysore, for his guidance in microbiology work and his immense help in University related matters.

I would like to acknowledge Dr. Dhan Prakash, Dept. of Nutraceuticals chemistry, National Botanical Research Institute (C.S.I.R.), Lucknow for his help in LC-MS studies.

With great pleasure I would like to acknowledge the help and support given by scientific staff of the department of Biochemistry and Nutrition and other departments of CFTRI, Mysore.

I would like to thank faculty and staff members of Animal House facility especially Mr. Viswanatha and Ms. Rita Das for their help in in vivo studies. I also would like to thank Faculty and staff members of Central Instrumentation Facility and Services (CIFS) and Food Science and Technology Information Services (FOSTIS) departments. I thankfully remember the support given by non-scientific staff of CFTRI.
