BIBLIOGRAPHY

Author. The knowledge base, Educational Researcher, 31(05).

Barve, M.V. (1986). Preparation of field testing of filmstrips for the teaching of science – A course in standard IX, and a study of their comparative effectiveness in the teaching-learning process as compared to the traditional process. Unpublished Doctoral Thesis, SNDT University.

Freeman (1958). Helping children understand science, USA.

Herron, M.D. (1969). Nature of science, Panacea or Pandora’s box. JRST, 6, 186.

Lawler, E.S. (1964). Differing rates of progress of classes under the same and different teachers. The Journal of Educational Research, 58, 84-86.

Maddu, V.M. (1978). A study of the effectiveness of the use of motion pictures on aids in the teaching of biological sciences as compared to the usual methods, UGC Project, Osmania University.

Educational Innovation and Information, 121, 2-5 (Bulletin Published by International Bureau of Education, Geneva).

Internet

The Internet Public Library: http://www.ipl.org/

The online Books Page: http://digital.library.upenm.edu/books/

www.ibe.unesco.org: Community of Practice in Curriculum Development.