ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This research study has enabled me to get many practical insights and resulted in nurturing my thinking and also has proved helpful in developing comprehensive and analytical thinking while preparing an empirical study on to measure and report ethical dimensions in selected organizations.

This research bears the imprints of many generally souls. In the preparation of this thesis many people have contributed their efforts and thoughts; I would like to take an opportunity to express my gratitude towards them.

Firstly, I would like to express my profound gratitude to Dr. Pinakin R. Sheth, my research guide who suggested the topic of research and without the guidance of whom this research would not have been possible. I am even grateful to Dr. Ketaki P. Sheth for inspiring me to undertake the aforesaid program.

I acknowledge my sincere heart felt gratitude to Mr. Anup Gopalka, Mr. Hans Agrawal, Mr. Fogla, Mr. Jain, Mr. Sajanji, who have been very generous in providing their valuable time, priceless advices and unconditional support and information of their organizations.

My overriding debt continuous to my respondents and especially to HR managers of all five organizations, who have provided me with the time, support view needed to carry this research work.

I would like to deeply thank my parents Dr. Mohan Bansal and Ms. Sushma Bansal for their continuous support, without which I would not have been able to be here. I am thankful to my sister Ms. Tejal Bansal and wife Ms. Astha Bansal for their cooperation and support. Love from my son Mr. Agastayaa Bansal was of profound inspiration.

With pleasure, I offer this report to the Sardar Patel University, Vallabh Vidyanagar
