First and foremost, I thank God to have kindness upon me and giving me a chance to understand the sweetness of endeavor in the path of knowledge and giving me this privilege to work under the guidance of Prof. C.G. Venkatesha Murthy, Regional Institute of Education (NCERT), University of Mysore. I sincerely acknowledge the invaluable guidance of him, in making this research a success. I express a deep sense of gratitude and thank for his untiring patience and timely encouragement. His insights and advices helped me in my endeavour to complete my thesis. The study could not have seen the light of the day without his valuable advices and guidance.

My sincere thanks to the members of the Board of Studies, Department of Studies in Psychology, University of Mysore, especially Prof. S. K. Kiran Kumar, Chairman, BOS, Prof. Mewa Singh, Fellow of the Indian Academy of Sciences, and Prof. S. Venkatesan, Professor of Clinical Psychology, All India Institute of Speech and Hearing, for their encouragement and constant support they gave me all through the study.

I owe my thanks to Prof M. Sharma, Professor in Clinical Psychology and Biofeedback therapist, National Institute of Mental Health And Neuro Science, (NIMHANS), Bangalore, for his valuable advices during my research project.

My special thanks are to Prof. M.S. Vishweshwara, MBBS, MD(RT), DM(RT), DNB, Chief Radiation Oncologist, Dr. M.B. Pashupathi, Residential Medical Officer, Dr. Y. S. Madhavi, Senior Radiation Oncologist, Dr. B. Kavitha, Pathologist, and Dr. Ajay Komar, Oncologist, Bharath Cancer Hospital and Research Institute of Oncology, Mysore, for their great advices and support they extended to me during my research in the hospital.

In this intellectual and scholarly journey, Word cannot express my gratitude for my dear wife Mrs. Behnaz Poorjaberi, Doctoral scholar in Communication and Journalism. I acknowledge the unconditional support and constant encouragement, I received from her. My thanks also extended to my little flower (My daughter) Melika Kalantari too.
I shall remain ever indebted to my mother Mrs. Sedigheh Kalantarhormozi, for her love and inspiration. I am especially thankful to her for inculcating in me the thirst for knowledge from my childhood and for her ongoing praise, encouragement and support.

Last but not least I express my gratitude to all the cancer patients and their caregivers who served as subjects for my research. Without their cooperation I could not succeed in my study.

This thesis is Dedicated in loving memory of my late father

MR. HORMOZ KALANTARI.

FARAZMAND KALANTARI