ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I take this opportunity to express my sincere and a heart felt thanks to a lot of people who have extended their unreserved support during the course of my research.

Foremost, among those to whom I am indebted is Dr. Lancy D’ Souza Ph. D., Reader in Psychology, University of Mysore, Mysore, under whose esteemed guidance, constant help at every staggering step and whose patience helped me make this work possible. I owe a small measure of debt that I shall never be able to repay.

My sincere thanks to my teacher Sri. M.R. Srikanth, I dedicate this work who has been mentor throughout my childhood and his perseverance attitude inspired me to pursue this study and whose help was abundant in the compilation of the data.

I dedicate this work to my grandparents Late Sri. Doddashankarappa and Smt. Honnamma for the blessings. No words would express my gratitude to my father Sri. D. Chandrashekarappa, my mother Smt. B. Ambuja, my brother Mr. C. Mahesh, my hearty thanks to them who have gone out of the way to help me and to sustain my motivation to complete this task. To my elder brother Sri. S.G.C. Kumar, and elder sister Smt. Vanitha Vishwanathaiah, who has been tolerant throughout and been a great support during difficult times that every researcher has to go through. I shall always cherish with high respect and gratitude, the invaluable time and efforts spared by them for this purpose.

I thank the management of all the Multinational companies and Call centers for permitting to conduct the research and for all the facilities they provided during data collection. I offer special thanks to Personnel department of these organizations for their constant assistance during sample selection. I am indebted to the respondents for unstinting co-operation and participation they offered and especially for spending a lot of their valuable time.

I thank Smt. Champa, Lecturer in English, B.M.S College for Women, for her valuable guidance and great help in compiling the thesis.
To my colleagues Prof. Dorai Raj, Principal of B.E.L College for his continuous encouragement, Prof. Chandrika Puranik, HOD, Department of Kannada and Smt. Mythili.K. Librarian, Seshadripuram Evening Degree College, who have always helped me in innumerable ways, I would like to share my joy in the compilation of this work. I thank them all very much for bearing with me during the period of this research work.

I am grateful to my institution and to Sri. Wooday P. Krishna, Hon.Gen. Secretary, Seshadripuram Educational Trust, for permitting me to complete my thesis work without pressure.

My thanks to Mr. Sreenath, Proprietor Psychotronics, for his co-operation during the study. I thank my uncle Sri. Shanthkumar for his continuous support and special advice in completion of the work.

The assistance of my students at the time of data compilation has been indispensable and I am indebted to my dear students, close associates who have directly or indirectly extended a helping hand in the successful completion of this work. I thank them all very much for bearing with me during the period of this research work.
