Acknowledgement

In the name of God the most beneficent and merciful

All thanks and praise is to God, the Lord of all the worlds and of everything in it. It is HIM without who’s WILL nothing can happen no matter how hard a man tries. He bestows to whom HE pleases, without measure.

After the Almighty, I wish to express my deepest and sincere gratitude to my supervisor Prof. Imrana Naseem for her continuous support and encouragement in conducting research and her guidance throughout this long period of four years. In addition to the scientific motivation, I would especially like to thank her for keeping the ‘fire in the belly’ alive in me and constantly encouraging and helping me to complete my thesis. I am also extremely thankful to her for providing me inspiration through her admirable personality and smart scientific analysis. I would like to take this opportunity to thank my seniors Dr. Iftekhar Hassan, Dr. Sandesh Chibber, Dr. Haseeb Zubair and Dr. Shafquat Azim for their help and support in animal handling and other experiments and for their suggestions (a few of these suggestions, whilst being valuable, were often confusing), philosophical discussions and the amusing arguments that surprisingly led to great research ideas.

From the world of mammals, I would like to humbly thank all the rabbits, rats and mice that were sacrificed in this project.

I thank all my close friends Khadija, Zehra and Zainab without whose constant support, both physically and emotionally made my stay in Aligarh, an experience that I will remember all my life.

For the sympathetic, fun and supportive environment in my lab, I would like to thank my mates – Maria, Maroof, Nida, Sarah and others.

I have no words to express thanks to my mother who gave me the encouragement, memorable moments, love and backing to let me realize my vision, for her support, life-long lessons, selfless devotions and inspirations and my father who always backed me when I was low.
Not to forget my only best friend since my childhood, my sister, Afreen Meerza because of whom I could never stay disappointed and depressed for long and my two little angels, Inshal, my nephew and Azeen, my niece because of whom I managed to be cheerful even when the results didn’t come or when the mice died before the sacrifice.

I would like to thank and dedicate my thesis to my fiancé, Dr. Jafar Hasan who constantly encouraged me and unselfishly believed in me.
