

VITA

Venkatesh Gopal was born on the 1st May 1962 in Salem. He graduated with a Masters degree in Chemistry from Pachaiyappa's College, Madras in the year 1984. After an year of research in Chemistry at Bangalore, he joined the Centre for Biotechnology, Anna University to work on adenovirus infection in the poultry. He is interested in the study of molecular basis of viral diseases and gene regulation in eukaryotic systems. He is involved in the development of a molecular probe for the diagnosis of Hepatitis B infection.