

VITAE

N. Radhakrishnan was born in Villupuram, Tamil Nadu on 27, June, 1963. His parents are Mr. V. Narayanan and Mrs. N. Rajalakshmi. He had his school education in the Municipal Higher Secondary School, Villupuram, following which he joined National College, Trichirapalli, Tamil Nadu and obtained the Degree of Bachelor of Science in Geology during 1983. He continued in the same college and completed his Master degree in Applied Geology in 1985. He worked as consulting Hydrogeologist for three years till 1988, immediately after completing his Master's degree. He later obtained the Master of Technology Degree in Remote Sensing from joined Birla Institute of Science and Technology, University of Rajasthan, Jaipur. He worked as a Senior Project Associate in the Institute of Remote Sensing, Anna University, Chennai between 1991 and 1997. He also visited Malaysia for a short duration of time and gained knowledge in the fields of Remote Sensing and GIS which has helped him a lot in his research work.

To his credit, N.Radhakrishnan, has five research papers published in refereed journals and proceedings of symposia. He also chaired a session on "Ecosystem and Biodiversity", at the International conference on Lake environment, held at Tsukuba University, Japan. His current research work and field of interest include GIS for Environmental Impact Assessment, Groundwater Quality, Coastal Environmental Studies.