CHAPTER – VIII

CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE BODY OF KNOWLEDGE

The researcher through this research has widened the scope for the co-operative spinning mills in identifying support for their enterprises. This research emphasizes on one aspect of process waste but it gives room for the management of co-operative spinning mills to see every generated product, whether produced or extracted as wastes or removed as bi-products, as financial resources when subjected to marketing practices.

This research will add as important eye opener to co-operative cotton spinning mills which are undergoing turbulus monetary situations and are marching forwards lockout to revive financially and get supported by their own resources.

Today in marketing world anything can be sold and turned into financial resource. So, this research work will add to the body of knowledge of co-operative spinning mill managements for utilization and healthily running their organizations.

----------------+++----------------