ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

In everything give thanks to God. I thank God, my Heavenly Father, Friend and Protector.

Heartfelt Gratitude to my parents, my family and friends for believing in me and holding my hands through this arduous and challenging journey.

Deep gratitude to Dr. H. L. Kaila, my guide, for his constant encouragement, patience, scholarly corrections, support and guidance. He spared no pains and carefully went to my entire work, giving me valuable insights and made this thesis presentable.

I thank the guides at the JJT University, Rajasthan and to all the faculty and staff both in Rajasthan and Mumbai for their continual help and valuable insights they gave me.

I appreciate and also very grateful to all the children and adolescents who took active involvement in this research project. Children are very innocent and their child like spirit can be easily molded. Like the clay in the potter’s hand so are the children in our hands. This research work proves that dance movement therapy can assist children and adolescents to restore to normal health, cure their pains, to reclaim their own self-identity and to move forward in life, joyfully, cheerfully and constructively.

I was very fortunate to have so many committed, knowledgeable, inspiring and efficient people who gave their precious time to my research project. Some of these amazing people include:

I am extremely grateful to His Eminence, Oswald Cardinal Gracias for his inspiration and being a real source of blessing. I thank Dr. Nicholas Antao, Orthopaedic Surgeon and Managing Trustee of the FIAMC Bio-Medical Ethics Centre, Mumbai for his constant support. Similarly, my thanks to all the Board of Trustees of the FIAMC Bio-Medical Ethics Centre.
I am grateful to Dr. Stephen Fernandes, my language editor for assisting me in making my thesis as perfect as possible and his continual encouragement throughout the research project. His expertise in editing and his academic support during my research process is remarkable.

I express words of gratitude to Dr. Charles Vas (Consulting Psychiatrist), Dr. Sunita Shankar (Psychologist), Tina Fernandes (Psychologist), Dr. Aninha Lobo (Psychologist, Sophia College, Mumbai), Dr. Anita Chettiar (Sociology, Nirmala Niketan, College), Dr. Cicilia Chettiar (Head of Psychology Department, Nanavati College), Michelle Vas (Counsellor), Advocate Jaya Menon, Sr. Sahaya Mary, Vera Fernandes and their team, Sr. Mary Britto and her team, teachers Natasha Pereira, Celina Lobo, Sherylan Mascarenhas, Ulrika Haltmeyer, Inge Gschwender, Perpetua Miranda (Professor of Sociology, Sophia College), my International Carmelite Family and so many others for their constant guidance and support.

I also want to appreciate and thank the NGO's and Organizations for their co-operation and support and who have imparted their knowledge to me in order to make this thesis a success.

My gratitude to my creative dance community and in a special way to Renelle Snelleksz, Dance Movement Therapist and Hazel Lobo Psychotherapist, Life Coach and Facilitator of Body Work and Carissa Caricato the Hoop Dancer, for conducting the dance movement therapy with so much love and dedication and for pulling me through the last portion of my thesis process. I am grateful to the opportunity I got to study at the University of Mumbai library and the library at the S.N.D.T. Women's University which gave me many useful insights.

This work is the final product of my dream that I wanted to accomplish. Since long I had a great desire to do some research which would be beneficial to others. The dream has now been fulfilled. Thank you, thank you, words cannot express the gratitude I feel for all of you!
