

VITAE

T. Settu was born on 16th June 1965 in Velunganandal, a small village in Tiruvannamalai-Sambuvarayar District, Tamil Nadu, India. He did his primary education in his native place and the secondary education at Government high school, Sorakolathur. He completed his Higher Secondary education at Danish Mission Higher Secondary School, Tiruvannamalai. He received Bachelor of Science and Master of Science degrees in Physics from University of Madras through Government Arts College, Tiruvannamalai in 1986 and 1989. He also received Master of Philosophy degree in Crystallography and Bio-physics from University of Madras in 1990. He joined as a full time research scholar in Ceramic Technology Division of Department of Chemical Engineering, Alagappa College of Technology, Anna University, Madras in June 1991 to work on the preparation and characterization of some advanced ceramic materials. He is an author of two research papers in International Journals and also has presented four papers in National/International conferences.