ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is my real pleasure to express my sincere gratitude to Prof. M.F.Patel, under whose active guidance this study took the present shape. His exemplary co-operative spirit and inspiring encouragement instilled in me a deep motivation to undertake and complete this study.

I am very much thankful to Prof. Janakbhai Bhaker, the then the Head of the Department of Sociology, of Sardar Patel University, for his valuable suggestions at the stage of the formulation of research proposal and selecting the title.

I would also like to gratefully acknowledge my profound thanks to both Prof. A.M.Shah, Head, Department of Sociology, Delhi University and Late Prof. Rameshbhai Shroff, former Head of Department of Social Anthropology of the Gujarat Vidyapith, for their continuous inspiration, guidance and inculcating in me right academic spirit in my pursuit of research and teaching in Sociology.

I would also like to record my appreciation to Prof. R.B. Lal, the Head, Department of Social Anthropology and also the Director of T.R.T.I., Gujarat Vidyapith, for his ready response, valuable hits and advice whenever I approached him.
I am highly obliged to Shree Ranchhodbhai Somabhai Patel of Radhvanaj, an ex-sarpanch, a charismatic leader, a progressive and dynamic farmer, a generous and a saintly person. He provided me with lodging, boarding and vehicle facilities as well as valuable informations. He used to accompany while visiting other villages under study and using his influence in getting co-operation in data collection from the informants. I shall ever remember him for his selfless service and hospitality.

I also thank Shri Ramanbhai Somabhai Patel (Matadar) and his family members, Shri Ramanbhai Narsinhbhai Patel, Shri Girishbhai A. Patel, Shri R.D.Desai, Shri Shantibhai Balashankar Dave and Shri Prafullbhai Balashankar Dave for helping me at various stages.

I also thank Shri Princi. M.C. Shah, the Managing Trustee, Vidyabhavan Trust, Ahmedabad, for his inspiration.

I am thankful to my colleagues and friends at NavGujarat College, Dr. M.B.Panchal, Dr. H.N.Desai, Prof. J.P.Badheka, Prof. B.N.Patel, Prof. D.M.Raval, Prof. C.C.Patel, Prof. P.M.Shah and Prof. S.J.Dave for giving me encouragement. I thank Shri Ashokbhai Shah, the Librarian, Nav Gujarat Arts College, Ahmedabad, for his co-operation and assistance in my library work for the study.
(IV)

I express my deep sense of gratitude to my beloved wife Nirmala without whose constant co-operation and encouragement it would not have been possible for me to undertake this study. My thanks to my son Shri Apoorva Mehta, who himself is a Lecturer in Sociology, for his earnest help at all the stages of my research work.

Shri Bipinchandra K. Yagnik, Typist, deserves a word of appreciation for offering me his efficient and quick service as well as for doing the typing work of this thesis quite accurately.

- PRAMOLRAY A. MEHTA