ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Every human being has a desire to grow and develop. This research work is the result of such desire. We know that one flower does not make a garland. Many friends and well wishers have contributed to fulfil my ambition. Without their help, contribution and co-operation this research work would not have been possible. Indeed! gratitude is the memory of heart.

I am totally indebted to respected Chota Bala Sir — my guide. His careful and proper guidance, has equipped me with an insight in this subject and method of the study. He has carefully guided me from defining the subject of study to every step of this study. In spite of my limitations, he has guided me precisely, carefully and with keen interest. Not only for this study but also he has guided me at every stage of development of life and personality. I have never seen him irritated on my mistakes. He never hurt my feelings by his words, deeds, gestures or even silence. I recall his words, “This work is not difficult, you can certainly do this”. These words were sufficient for me to pursue this work well. His profound sense of judgement has always influenced my work. His qualities have given me a new sense towards my profession also. I am keen to express my obligation towards him. Sir! I am really thankful.

I am also grateful to professor Dr. J. K. Dave. Once he had told us during M.Ed. class, “One of the aims of education is happiness.” These words have always inspired me to do my work. Whenever he met me in the campus, he always asked me about my research work. His words have always encouraged me.

I am grateful to all my teachers at the P. G. Department. I am also thankful to Chandra Kantbhai Bhogayata — Head of the Department of Education — Bhavnagar University. He was very helpful to find out materials for my subject during my visit to Bhavnagar University.
I am also thankful to the librarians of many universities and colleges where I visited and specially to the librarians of our university and the department. I also express my acknowledgement to the teachers of Kheda and Anand district whom I had selected as sample of the study. Without them this study would not have been possible.

At this happy moment I recall feelings of my late grandfather and grandmother who were always eager to see my success. I pay homage to them. I am thankful to my father who helped me in correcting proofs and other things. He always encouraged me for this work. I am thankful to my loving mother who was always ready to fulfill my needs and facilities and for her constant reinforcement to my work. I am thankful to my brother, bhabhi, Sweta, Poonam—my nieces who helped me and supported me throughout.

I am also thankful to Poornimaben who typed this thesis carefully and in time.

Finally, I am thankful to all the persons and friends who helped me in this work.

This research is a humble effort to fill a small vessel from boundless ocean of Education. I hope that this research will be useful to others. With this hope I present my thesis to Sardar Patel University.

Place: Nadiad

Date: 15th October 2002

Vijayadashami

Geeta A. Mehta