CONTENTS

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT .......................... 1

LIST OF TABLE

CHAPTERS

I INTRODUCTION .............................. 1

1.1 Introduction
1.2 Process of Language Learning
1.3 Importance of English in World-wide Historical Perspective
1.4 Position of English Language in India during Post-independence era
1.5 Teaching of English Language in Gujarat- its Retrospect and Prospect
1.6 Shift of Emphasis
1.7 Importance of English Language

II VARIOUS GRAMMARS AND LANGUAGE LEARNING ............. 23

2.1 Traditional Grammar - Its Contribution to Language Learning
2.2 The Beginning of Prescriptive Grammar
2.3 Weaknesses of Early Grammarians
2.4 Various Grammatical Approaches
2.5 A Linguistic Approach to Language
CHAPTERS

2.6 A Linguistic look into the description of Language Corpus

2.7 Scale-category Grammar
2.8 Structural Grammar
2.9 Immediate Constituents
2.10 Transformational Generative Grammar

III REVIEW OF THE PAST WORK

3.1 Introduction
3.2 Importance of the review of previous researches
3.3 Researches on text book studies
3.4 Review of related studies
3.5 The present study - its relevance
3.6 Conclusion

IV PLAN AND PROCEDURE

4.1 Introduction
4.2 Need for planning - its practical aspects and relevance
4.3 Study of the syllabus of L.L. English text-book for Std. VIII
4.4 Study of various textbooks available
4.5 An outline of TG, structural and other prevalent approaches
CHAPTERS

4.6 Historical perspective of various grammars

4.7 Objectives of the present study

4.8 Delimitations of the Study

4.9 Construction and implementation of the experimental tool

4.10 Selection of some psycho-socio tools

V EXPERIMENTAL DESIGN

5.1 Introduction

5.2 Pre-requisites to the formation of hypotheses

5.3 Formulation of hypotheses

5.4 Basic requirements of the experiment

5.5 Sample-schools

5.6 Formation of equivalent groups

5.7 Steps of Design

5.8 Naming of groups

5.9 Time-allowance

VI ANALYSIS AND INTERPRETATION OF RESULTS

6.1 Introduction

6.2 Scoring of the Tests

6.3 Correlation co-efficients between criterion variable and control variables
CHAPTERS

6.4 Replication Study I
Controlling Pre-Achievement in Languages and S.E.S.

6.5 Replication Study II
Controlling Pre-Achievement in Languages and I.Q.

6.6 Replication Study III
Controlling Pre-Achievement in Languages and n-Ach.

6.7 Replication Study IV
Controlling Pre-Achievement in Languages and Emotional Stability

6.8 Replication Study V
Controlling Pre-Achievement in Languages and Anxiety

6.9 Replication Studies of Criterion Variable in the Context of Sex

(a) Controlling Pre-Achievement in Languages and S.E.S. in the context of two levels of Sex.

(b) Controlling Pre-Achievement in Languages and I.Q. in the context of two levels of Sex.
(c) Controlling Pre-Achievement in Languages and n.Ach. in the context of two levels of Sex.

(d) Controlling Pre-Achievement in Languages and Emotional Stability in the context of two levels of Sex

(e) Controlling Pre-Achievement in Languages and Anxiety in the context of two levels of Sex.

6.10 Replication Studies on Criterion variables in the context of area:

6.10 (a) Controlling Pre-Achievement in Languages and S.E.S. in the context of two levels of area

6.10 (b) Controlling Pre-Achievement in Languages and IQ in the context of two levels of area

6.10 (c) Controlling Pre-Achievement in Languages and n-Ach. in the context of two levels of Area

6.10 (d) Controlling Pre-Achievement in Languages and Emotional Stability in the context of two levels of Area
CHAPTERS

6.10 (e) Controlling Pre-Achievement in Languages and Anxiety in the context of two levels of Area

VII REVIEW, MAJOR FINDINGS AND SUGGESTIONS 260

7.1 Introduction
7.2 Brief Summary
7.3 General Observations
7.4 Major Findings of Related Studies
7.5 Suggestions for Further Studies
7.6 Conclusion

BIBLIOGRAPHY 294

APPENDICES

Appendix A Language-programme (An experimental treatment)
Appendix B S.E.S. Scale
Appendix C I.Q. Test
Appendix D N.Ach. Test
Appendix E Emotional Stability Scale
Appendix F Anxiety Scale
Appendix G Criterion test