My dear friend,

I got your letter and knew about your visit to Abu.

To-day, I this letter write you this letter with a purpose. to-day is my birthday. my uncle has arranged an ice-cream party. many and monsoon will come there will be a music party. if you will have a lot of fun.

Please do come.

Yours sincerely,

X. Y. Z.
Kanjibhai is a postman. He gets up early in the morning. He gets ready quickly. He puts on his khaki uniform and goes to the village post office. He collects letters and magazines from there. He also collects parcels and money orders. He puts them in his bag. He then delivers the letters and parcels, magazines and money orders. He visits several places. He moves from house to house. He is very regular in his work. He delivers the mail regularly. The village people like him.
There is a very fine zoo in Ahmedabad. It is in the Hill Garden. It is near the Kankaria Lake. Sunil and his friends visited the zoo on Sunday evening.

First they went to the ticket-window. There was a long queue at the window. Sunil stood in the queue and bought four tickets. They went to the gate. The gate-keeper collected the tickets from them and the boys went in.

They visited the lion's cage first. There were men, women and children near the lion's cage. The lion was in the cage. The lioness was in the den. Were there cubs in the lion's cage? No, there weren't.

The tiger's cage was next to the lion's cage. They also saw a chittah, a bear and a hippo.

Then they visited the monkeys' cage. The monkeys jumped up and down. A girl gave a banana to the monkey. The monkey took the banana and ran away. A boy went near the cage. A monkey jumped up and pulled the boy's spectacles off. There was a notice on the board: 'Don't go near the cage.'

There were rabbits in a small cage. The rabbits had long ears and short tails. Were there deer in the zoo? Yes, there were. The deer had long horns. Was there a giraffe in the zoo? No, there wasn't. Were there horses and camels? No, there weren't.

There were birds in the zoo. They were in a cages. There were peacocks, parrots, doves and sparrows. Were there crows? No, there weren't.

Then the boys sat on the green lawn. They ate biscuits and groundnuts. It was seven o'clock. The zoo closed at seven o'clock. Men, women and children went out. Sunil and his friends went out. They went to a bus-stop. They got into the bus and reached home at half-past seven. They enjoyed their visit to the zoo.