ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First and foremost, the author bows with a deep sense of gratitude to God Almighty for enabling her to complete this work.

The author is sincerely grateful and highly indebted to her guide Prof. V. Subramaniam, B.Sc.Tech., M.Tech., Ph.D., Head of the Department of Textile Technology, A.C. College of Technology, for the comprehensive guidance, perpetual interest, immense enthusiasm, constant encouragement and unfailing help given throughout the study.

The author owes her indebtedness to her husband, daughter and son, who have been extremely considerate and co-operative and have borne the separation ungrudgingly. She is deeply indebted to her mother who always prayed for her and also to her brothers and sisters who have encouraged her throughout the work.

She is very grateful to Mr. R.C. Nayar, for patiently spending countless days with the computer. She is deeply indebted to him for his painstaking and ceaseless efforts.

She is thankful to the authorities of Andhra-pradesh Agriculture University for having deputed her for higher studies and also to I.C.A.R for the award of senior research fellowship under its F.I.P programme.

Grateful acknowledgement is due to Dr.M.L.Santhanam,
Deputy Director, National Institute of Rural Development,
Hyderabad, for his valuable suggestions and unfailing help.

She wishes to record her sincere appreciation and thanks to Prof.P. Bajaj, Head of the Department of Textile Technology, Indian Institute of Technology, New Delhi, who has been very considerate and made all necessary arrangements to perform certain tests in their laboratories.

Appreciation and thanks for valuable suggestions and help are also due to:

— Dr.R.C. Dhingra, Project Scientist, School of Textile Technology, New South Wales, Australia during his visit to the department.

— Dr.M.G. Modak, Doctoral Committee Member.

— Dr.J.V. Rao, A.C. College of Technology, Madras.

— Dr.M.N.U. Kurup, Commanding Officer, D.G.I. Complex, Madras.

— Dr.B.C. Muthayya, Director, National Institute of Rural Development, Hyderabad.
— Dr. Joseph Kurian, Indian Institute of Technology, New Delhi.

— Dr. P. Alexander, Director, National Institute of Rural Development, Hyderabad.

She is grateful to the authorities of Handloom and Khadi Board for having donated the material for experimental work.

She owes her thanks to the authorities of Police Department, Transport Department, Medical Department and School Directorate in Hyderabad, for having provided necessary arrangements for consumer survey work.

Thanks are also due to the authorities of the following institutes for having given her permission to use the library facilities:

— Shri Ram Institute for Industrial Research, New Delhi.
— Indian Institute of Technology, New Delhi.
— SITRA, Coimbatore.
— P.S.G. College of Technology, Coimbatore.
— Avinashilingam Home Science College, Coimbatore.
— Administrative Staff College, Hyderabad.
— Osmania University, Hyderabad.
— National Institute of Rural Development, Hyderabad.

— University of Madras.

She also records her thanks and appreciation of:

— The Authorities of C.L.R.I., Madras, for permitting her to avail the laboratory facilities.

— All the members of Textile Technology Department, A.C. College of Technology.

— Her research colleagues and friends.

— Mr. S. Balasubramaniam, Indian Institute of Technology, New Delhi.

— Mr. N. Neelakantan, for quality typing.

***

***

***
About the Author

The author took her post-graduate degree, majoring in textiles and clothing, from Maharaja Sayajirao University of Baroda in 1968. She joined the college affiliated to the Andhra Pradesh Agricultural University, Hyderabad, in 1969 and has been working as Asst. Professor from 1972 onwards. During this period she has worked as the Head of the Department and as member of the Academic Council for two years. She has been a member of the Intermediate Board and the Board of Examiners for undergraduate and post-graduate programmes.