CONTENTS

1. Title
2. Acknowledgements
3. Abstract

CHAPTER 1: INTRODUCTION 1-26
1.1 Rationale.
1.2 Reasons for Induction of Women in the Armed Forces.
1.3 Women’s Military Participation, Selected Countries.
1.4 Structure of the Indian Armed Forces.
1.5 Concepts Examined in this Study.
1.6 Scope of the Study.

CHAPTER II HISTORICAL PERSPECTIVE 27-47
2.1 History of Women’s Status and Empowerment.
2.2 Women and Work.
2.3 Women in the Armed Forces.

CHAPTER III SURVEY OF RELATED LITERATURE 48-99
3.1 Gender Perspective.
3.2 Attitudes towards Women in the Armed Forces.
3.3 Women in Combat.
3.4 Stress.
3.5 Motivation & Self-Actualization.
3.6 Personality.
3.7 Work Related Attitudes.
3.8 Employment, Family and Social Support.

CHAPTER IV RESEARCH METHODOLOGY 100-150
4.1 Problem, Aims & Objectives.
4.2 Research Design.
4.3 Operational Definition of terms. 103
4.4 Hypotheses. 104
4.5 Assessment tools. 111
4.6 Procedure. 135
4.7 Data Analyses. 142
4.8 Sample Description. 143

CHAPTER V RESULTS AND DISCUSSION 151-292
5.1 Work Related Attitudes. 152
5.2 Gender Equality Attitudes. 160
5.3 Work motivations 178
5.4 Organizational role stress. 185
5.5 Self-Actualization 195.
5.6 Personality. 200
5.7 Gender role identity. 204
5.8 WNOs volunteering for combat. 208
5.9 Social Support for Married women naval officers. 219
5.10 Demographic variables and factors contributing to Work Related Attitudes, Motivation and Role Stress. 229
5.11 Contribution of Self-Actualization, Personality, Masculinity/Femininity, to Work Related Attitudes, Motivation and Role Stress. 254
5.12 Contribution of Motivations to Work attitudes. 266
5.13 Contribution of Role Stress to Work Related Attitudes 268
5.14 Qualitative Analysis: Attitudes towards the Navy and WNOs.275

CHAPTER VI SUMMARY AND CONCLUSIONS 293-309
6.1 Main findings of the study. 295
6.2 Conclusion. 302
6.3 Limitations and recommendations. 303
6.4 Scope for future research. 306