REFERENCES

115. Mackay C. (1992), 'Effect of laundering on the sensory and mechanical properties of 1x1 Rib knitwear fabrics', M.Phil. Thesis, School of Textile Studies, Bolton Institute, U.K.

VITAE

He joined Jaya Engineering College, Chennai in the Department of Textile Technology as an Assistant Professor in 2000 and subsequently was elevated to Head of the Department in 2001. He registered under Dr. Ramesh Chandran Nayar, Anna University as an external Ph.D., candidate in 2001. His principal interests are Textile Physics, Weaving Fabric Structure and Knitting. A paper entitled "The effect of run-in ratio on the low stress mechanical properties of single jersey derivatives", which constitutes a portion of the Ph.D. thesis, has been considered fit for presentation in the International Conference which is to be held in July, 2004 at the Kumaraguru College of Technology, Coimbatore. He has organised many national seminars on Textiles and was instrumental for the starting of M.Tech., post-graduate programme of Anna University in Jaya Engineering College, Chennai.