This research has been a wonderful life experience that I would always cherish. This experience has not only improved my skills in scientific enquiry but also moulded me into a better person. This thesis had reinforced my belief in the goodness of human beings and all the people I had interacted from the beginning till the end of this study. They demonstrated to me the value of “trust” by unconditionally placing their trust in me. A study of this nature would not have been possible without the inputs, cooperation and support from a large number of people. I take this opportunity to thank them all.

First of all I offer my respectful obeisance to my deity, Lord Ganesha, for his blessings and being my coping strategy throughout my study period.

At the outset, I take an opportunity to thank Dr. Shivappa M., Chairman, department of studies in social work for permitting me to undertake this study.

I would like to thank Dr. Ramainiah, Chairman, Board of Examination of the department of studies in social work for his valuable inputs.

I am finding no words to express my heartfelt gratitude to my guide, Dr. C. Usha Rao, Associate Professor, Department of studies in social work, for her guidance, encouragement and support. Her unconditional trust, warmth, and caring attitude made this research experience very pleasant. She was extremely concerned when I was playing the dual role as a mother and a research scholar, and made it easier for me to handle both through constant support and guidance. Madam, I thank you profusely.

The entire process of research has been a long journey. The journey would not have been insightful, fulfilling without the presence, support and guidance of Dr. Puspalatha G., Product development Manager, Pearson Ltd. She has been a major source of inspiration to me. Discussions with her enabled me to think beyond my abilities and helped me in writing my thesis. I am grateful for her genuine concern all through out the study. Her immense patience in going through my drafts sustained my enthusiasm till the end of this work. I thank you for all the intellectual stimulation, guidance and emotional support.

I would like to acknowledge the help rendered by the Regional Paediatric ART Centre at Indira Gandhi Institute of Child health, Bangalore for helping me conduct the study.

Dr. Suresh K.P., Biostatistician, Department of Animal Husbandry, has been very patient with my ignorance and helped me make meaning out of numbers. Thank you sir.
I am thankful to Dr. N. Janardhana, Assistant Professor, Department of psychiatric social work, NIMHANS for helping me in understanding the results of my study and also for co-authoring my research publications.

I am indebted to Malathi, not only for being a nice friend but also for managing to help me in my data entry work. Thanks for being there for me.

The caregivers, I have interacted with have taught me a great deal. They have shown me the strength of their spirit, their resilience, survival skills and the bonds with their extended family. They opened their personal life without hesitation with complete trust to an outsider. I thank them a lot for contributing to my growth through their life experiences. My special thanks to the caregivers who shared their inner world with me, for sharing the children's private thoughts, fears and hopes and now to share them with others.

I am sure that I would have unintentionally missed out several individuals who contributed to this work and I thank them all.
