BIBLIOGRAPHY

6) Anonymouse, 1997: Sericulture policy in Karnataka, Government of Karnataka, Department of Sericulture Bangalore, India.

18) Barret, C.B; Reardon, T. and Webb, P. 2001: Food Policy, Elsevier.

51) Das, M. 2006: “Empowerment of Women through Ericulture: A case study in Sarukhetry Community Development Block”. Paper presented in the national seminer on “Rural Development Through Women’s Empowerment With Special Reference to The North-East, sponsored by University Grant

90) Hobbs, R. 2000: Small firms. ESRC Centre for Business Research, University of Cambridge, UK

92) Hurley, S: Silk encyclopedia, Chicago, Illinois

101) Indian Silk, 1992, Vol-30 (7)

125) Mattu, V. K; Sharma, N; Sharma, S, 2000: Sericulture in Himachal Pradesh: Scope and Strategies for Development; Edited by Hari Om Agrawal and M. K. Seth. Publish by B Singh and M. pal Singh, Dehra Dun.

166) Scalamandre, Franco, 1983: Silk, Quted in the New Book of Knowledge, Grolier incorporated, Danbury, Canada.

170) Shepherd, G. S. 1965: Marketing Farm Products, Economic Analysis, Iowa State University Press, Ames Lowa, USA.

175) Silknet, 2004, June.

182) Statistical hand book.2012: Published by Bodoland Territorial Council (BTC, Kokrajhar.

183) Statistical hand book. 2012: Published by Directorate of Sericulture, Assam.

195) U N Women, 2012: Policy Brief- Decent Work and Women’s economic Empowerment, Women’s Economic Empowerment Section, Policy Division, ILO: Gender Equality Bureau

Website visited

2) www.library.startinternational.org (Accessed on 10-12-2012)
3) www.nistads.res.in (Accessed on 17-01-2013)
4) www.ssc.upenn.edu (Accessed on 28-02-2013)
5) www.unescapsdd.org (Accessed on 23-08-2013)
6) www.wiki.answers.com (Accessed on 12-04-1014)
7) www.wwhi-asia.org (Accessed on 08-06-2014)