ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I concede my profound and heartfelt appreciation and gratefulness to Prof. R. D. Sharma for polishing a raw researcher through his experienced understanding and encouraging learning in an exceptional way. He has been a paternal figure to me and supported me throughout my thesis work. I’m also exceedingly indebted to Dr. Gurjeet Kaur for her persistent help, patience and cooperation and especially, for sharing her expertise on statistical techniques.

I extend my special thanks to the Indian Army for granting permission for survey and my respondents, the Indian soldiers for their undeniable cooperation and serenity during long in-depth interviews. I’m also very grateful to the Commanding Officers and Adjutants of the Army units surveyed, for making my tough surveys easy by providing me all the tangible support required. I owe a special thanks to Lt. Col. Alok Narain who helped me at the early stages of survey.

My earnest gratitude to all the faculty members of the Department of Commerce, University of Jammu for their all-time assistance and advice. In addition, I really appreciate Mr. M. P. Raina, Assistant Librarian, Department of Commerce, for his unparalleled assistance in providing pertinent literature. I also thank the nonteaching staff of Department of Commerce for their constant support.

Special recognition is due to Mr. Vivek Vaid, who helped me in acquiring permission from the Headquarters of the Northern Command for the survey. I would also thank my friends for their unusual support and encouragement. In particular I’m thankful to Munish Dutta, Bodh Raj, Vipul Chalotra, Suman Tikoo, Neha Mahajan and Nitasha Seli.

My sincere thanks to my father, Mr. Madan Gopal Sharma and my mother, Ms. Sushma Sharma for their love, affection and altruistic giving of themselves, especially my father who supported me practically and emotionally all through my field survey. Besides, I extend my appreciation to all my family members, especially my brother Mr. Sushant Sharma, nephew, Rydham and niece, Hunar.

I’m also highly thankful to my father-in-law, Mr. Ashok Kumar and mother-inlaw, Ms. Snehlata for their continuous support and cooperation.

My heartfelt love, admiration and gratefulness to my husband, Mr. Munish for his unwavering affection, patience, faith, encouragement and sacrifice without which completion of this comprehensive piece of work within requisite time would have not been possible.

This research work is dedicated to my beloved and departed grandfather, Capt. Jagan Nath Sharma, who served as a source of inspiration for me to initiate research on the Indian Army.

Most importantly and above all, I’m eternally grateful to Shri Mataji Nirmala Devi for her deeply imbibed teachings and balancing techniques of yoga which helped me rescue from slight pessimistic dispositions throughout my entire journey of doctorate. She is the Savior of my life in true sense!

Place: Jammu (Sakshi Sharma)