Acknowledgement

Learning is the greatest adventure in life and the author wishes to express his gratitude to all those, who directly or indirectly, knowingly or unknowingly, for their encouraged and assisted in this episode of the author’s development and for making this learning process stimulating, challenging and joyous.

The journey is commemorated with meeting of innumerable personalities who directly or indirectly shaped the fabric of this work. At the fag end of my doctoral research, I feel that I was really fortunate to have the guidance and encouragement of Dr. P. W. Khirade, Professor & Head, Department of Physics, Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar Marathwada University, Aurangabad. I also felt that mere words of gratefulness perhaps will not be able to express my reverence to him. I owe my every achievement to him and shall remain obliged to him forever. At the same time, I shall remain ever grateful to Dr. S.C. Mehrotra, Professor, Department of Computer Science and Information Technology, Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar Marathwada University, Aurangabad, welcomed me on board of his research group. It all started as a simple task, through some dielectric relaxation measurements and extending the range of applicability of an already developed theory, in a time turned into a real voyage. At that time, I never thought of going as deep into the theoretical aspects of dielectric as the present thesis witnesses.

I have no words to express my gratitude to Dr. S. S. Patil, who have contributed to my understanding of part of my research work. I would like to express my appreciation to Prof. M. D. Shirsat, Dr. P. B. Undre and Dr. B.R. Sharma for being with me with their professional advice and will remember the perpetual moments I shared with them in due course of research work.

I would like to thank Prof. S. H. Behere, Prof. D.D. Deshmukh, Prof. K. M. Jadhav, Dr. V. V. Nawarkhele, Dr. R. P. Sharma, Dr. B. N. Dole, Dr S. S. Deshpande, Dr. D.S. Sengule, Dr Smt. A. G. Murugkar, Dr Smt. P. P. Pawar and Dr. G.M Dharne for their kind suggestions whenever it was required.

It’s my honor to have the kind affection and hospitality of Sou. Surekha Khirade during this journey that has never let me feel the distance of my home. I owe my deepest sense of appreciation towards her caring heart.
All the research colleagues Dr. Shafi Sayyad, Dr. P. T. Sonwane, Mr. Anil Tidar, Mr. V.B. Huse, Mr. Y.S. Sudake, Ms. A.P. Maharolkar and many individuals have helped me to make years in department into an interesting and enjoyable period of my life.

I am grateful to my friends Dr. Arjun Mane, Mr. Sambhaji Gate, Dr. Suryakant Sapkal, Mr. Premal Nirpal, Mr. Vishnu Huse, Mr. Vishwanath Mote, Mr. Ram Rathod, Mr. Kunal Datta, Mr. Prasanta Ghosh and many more for their helping hand from time to time.

Finally, I pay homage from the deepest of my heart to my beloved mother Sou. Hirkanitai and father Shri. Parasharam H. Kamble, elder brother Milind Kamble, sisters Mrs. Sukeshani Navsagare, Mrs. Chhaya Shelke, sister in law Mr. Vijay Shelke and all family members whose constant love, extended support and encouragement have been the main force for whoever I am and it will continue everlasting.

SIDDHARTH P. KAMBLE
