Acknowledgement

With an ineffable sense of profound gratitude the author places on record his indebtedness to his respected guide, Dr S. K. Kapoor, whose constant involvement and inspiration gave shape to this thesis and brought it to its culmination. Without his valuable suggestions, immense interest, affection and good wishes, it would not have been possible for the under signed to complete this research work.

The author also wishes to place on record special thanks to the current Chairman of University Business School, Dr. Dinesh Kumar Gupta, for his insistent encouragement and indefatigable co-operation throughout the period of this work.

For the author, language seems to be too inadequate a medium to express his feelings of indebtedness to his family, especially to Deepti (UBSite-2005), whose cooperation, good wishes, encouragement, blessings and affection acted as a catalyst for completing the arduous task.

Author has shown his mark of duty by acknowledging his profound thanks to his seniors and colleagues at State Bank of India especially at Information Technology Department for their kind support in seeking the required information either in form of interviews or any historical data for the completion of the thesis.

Author cannot overlook the remarkable co-operation, timely help and moral support extended by his friends.

Author also takes this opportunity to mark his heartfelt gratitude to all the other staff members of University Business School for providing him the best possible assistance and support.

Last but not the least, author is obliged by help extended by all those people, who have assisted him in some or the other way on this long journey.
