ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The most important acknowledgement, by far, is to my distinguished and esteemed supervisor, Dr. B.G. Banerjee, Professor, and co-supervisor, Dr. A.K. Sinha, Reader, Department of Anthropology, Panjab University, Chandigarh for their valuable guidance, encouragement and remarkable patience throughout the period of executing this thesis.

It is my privilege to thank Prof. Dr. R.N. Vashisht, former Chairperson, Prof. Dr. R.K. Pathak, the present Chairperson, Department of Anthropology, Panjab University, for providing all the necessary facilities for conducting this study.

I express my sincere thanks to Dr. Kunchok Tsendue, Joint Secretary, Chief Planning Officer, Planning Council, Central Tibetan Administration, Gangchen Kyishong Dharamsala, Miss Tsamchoe Lhakhang, Tibetan Welfare Officer, Kullu, Mr. Norzang, President of Tibetan Students Association, Chandigarh, Miss Dechen, Computer Instructor, Tibetan Children’s Village, Dharamsala, Lama Lobzang, Nechung Monastery, and Miss Lhakpa Chodon, Tibetan Supreme Justice Commission, Dharamsala.

My sincere thanks and gratitude are due to Mr. Pema Yeshi, Librarian, Library of Tibetan Works and Archives, Gangchen Kyishong, Dharamsala for allowing me to collect data from the library. Without his help my literature searching would have been far from adequate.

I acknowledge the kind help provided to me by the office staff of Department of Anthropology and A.C. Joshi Library, Panjab University, Chandigarh.

My words fail to thank and express my regards to all my respondents of Tibetan settlements in Dharamsala, Kullu, Manali, Patlikuhl and 15 mile Camp. My research work would never have taken shape unless I had received excellent co-operation from all my respondents in these settlements.

I am grateful to my friends, particularly Mr. Anupam, Mr. Sunil Bodh, Mr. Baghat Singh, Mr. Rahul Sehgal, Mr. Anil, Mr. Gurpreet, and Mr. Tanzin Dawa, for their constant help and inspiration in carrying out this venture.

I owe a very special debt to my parents and my brother, Suresh Kumar, without whose constant encouragement and blessings, none of this would have been possible.

Sincere thanks are due to Miss. Indu Sharma, Miss. Kuljeet Kaur and Mr. Bajaj, for typesetting and giving the final shape to this thesis.
