Acknowledgements

When we become more fully aware that our success is due in large measure to the loyalty, helpfulness, and encouragement we have received from others, our desire grows to pass on similar gifts. Gratitude spurs us on to prove ourselves worthy of what others have done for us. The spirit of gratitude is a powerful energizer.

Wilferd A. Peterson

It is with deep sense of gratitude that I take this opportunity to thank all the people who made my journey so far a pleasant and a memorable one. At the outset I would like to thank my mentor, guide and my source of inspiration – Dr. Padma Shastry. Ma’am it is with your constant support, dynamic scientific advice and stimulating discussions that this project has seen light. Thank you for teaching me the right principles in not just research but also in life, correcting me whenever I was wrong (on numerous occasions), teasing me on my goof ups (numerous again) and making the lab a lively place. Your enthusiasm and drive to perfection are infectious. The students you train are trained for life!

I am highly indebted to the Director of NCCS, Padmashree Dr. G.C. Mishra, for providing me with the opportunity and appropriate infrastructure at NCCS. I am grateful to University Grants Commission (UGC) for providing me with fellowship for my PhD tenure. I thank Department of Biotechnology, Pune University for registration facilities. I also thank Dr. J. K. Pal for his helpful comments during interviews that helped in improving my thesis. I wish to thank the scientists of Lab 2 – Dr. P. B. Parab, Dr. P. Deshpande and Dr. Sandhya Sitasawad for ensuring congenial working environment in the lab. My sincere thanks to Dr. Anjali Shiras for providing me with primary cells derived from brain tumor samples. I thank Dr. Rajiv Kaleria (of ACTREC) for training me to perform invasion assays.

I would like to extend my gratitude to the staff of all the central facilities at NCCS. Special thanks to the members of washing and packing section. The first reason for the success of any experiment performed is because of Mr. Basutkar and his team who ensured glassware in perfect condition. I am grateful to the media section and cell repository for providing cell lines whenever requested for. I thank Mrs. Ashwini Atre for acquiring all my confocal images without which a lot of data could not have been generated. Work would not have been possible in lab without the ever ready staff of instrumentation and maintenance, electric sub station and AC plant. The staff of academic section was patient and helpful. The accounts, administration and computer section was always helpful. Thanks to the stores and purchase department staff for arranging for chemicals and reagents, special thanks to Mr. Mahetkar. I thank Mr. Nema and Mrs. Panse for the library facilities. Work at NCCS would not have been possible without the lab boys and the security staff from Great Wall and Suvarna housekeeping agencies. I also thank Dr. Y. Shouche, Dr. V. Sheshadri and Dr. N. Lenka for the hostel facilities.

It is often said that a journey is best measured in friends rather than miles. It gives me great pleasure to thank all my friends who made life at NCCS a joyous one. All the members of Lab 2 are friends for life than just colleagues. Special thanks to Mrs. Jayashree Jagtap for friendly advice and forthright admonitions. Thank you madam for the cell culture training you have given me; it laid the very foundation of my project. The initial training given by my seniors, Dr. Sudheerkumar and Dr. Vandna Prasad was of immense help. It is with great pleasure and love that I thank my friend since college, Radha (Maatey). Cheers to all the great times we shared! Thank you Mruthyunjaya (MJ) for your ready help and support. My good wishes and blessings will always be with Natesh. Thank you Natu for all the help. A big thank you to Sandhya who was very caring and considerate. I will always remember the fights we had over petty issues (like Abhishek Bacchan). I thank Vasundhara (Sundy) for being a good friend and a great cook. It is with relish that I remember her pulao. I am grateful to Sonia, Sayeed, Santosh, Sandeep and Devalji for their continued support and help. My sincere thanks to all the trainees and juniors who worked with me at different times. Ganesh, Riccha, Vasanti, Parveen, Chandrika, Rammyani, Partho, Aparajita, Mithila, Priyanka and Ashwin - wish you all the best things in life. The times I spent in NCCS hostel, though brief, were happy. For this I thank all my flatmates who stayed with me from time to time - Rehana, Reeti, Manideepa, Geetanjali, Navita, Nitu, Vimal and Subhashri. Special thanks to Sunil Martin for the words of encouragement and support laced with humor.

At times our own light goes out and is rekindled by a spark from another person. It is rare that we meet people who make us realize our shortcomings without pointing them out. It is a blessing to have such people as friends. Raghu, thank you for helping me through tough times and being such a precious friend. Here’s wishing you only the best in life. I also thank Rashmi and Vindhya (Vindy) for all the good laughs we shared.

No words can describe the gratitude I feel for my parents and sisters – Prabha (Asma) and Sujatha. Thank you for pushing me to give my best and never letting me give up. Mom and Dad – this is for you.

My honest apologies to all the people who deserve a mention here but are victims of my flawed memory. Nevertheless I sincerely thank all of them.

Above all I humbly thank God Almighty for giving me the strength and hope through hurdles and making this thesis possible.
