ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It has been Grace of God that I could travel a long journey to reach the goal. God desired and decided so I am here today. May I always say the prayer of thanks to God and trod the path shown by Him.

During the journey of research, there had been many hurdles. I was struck up at many places, but an angel in the guise of my teacher, guide and supervisor Professor Meena Sehgal always appeared on the scene to remove all kinds of obstacles. I have been constantly guided by my supervisor Professor Meena Sehgal, Former Chairperson, Department of Psychology, Panjab University, Chandigarh. Her able guidance and mature advice always instilled a new confidence and courage in me. Whenever I was at a loss, it was the inspiration of Professor Meena Sehgal that generated new ideas and thoughts. I do not find words to express my gratitude to her. I can only say that she is an excellent supervisor, superb teacher and a very good friend indeed. I am fortunate to have her as my teacher and supervisor. With her guidance most difficult things looked very easy. In spite of her very busy schedule, she always spared her precious time to mould my destiny.

I am lucky to have the guidance of “Guru of Gurus”: Professor Jitendra Mohan, Professor Emeritus, Department of Psychology, Panjab University, Chandigarh. It was his sage advice from time to time that helped me to look at difficult things from other perspective. I will always remain indebted to him for helping me in achieving my goal.

No child can grow with full potential physically or otherwise unless there is full support from parents and other family members at home. I am fortunate to have a complete academic environment at home. My father Professor Paramjit S. Jaswal and my mother Professor Nishtha Jaswal gave me the necessary push at every stage to climb the ladder to reach the destination. Their motivating motivation, love and hugs I enjoyed every moment. The magic wand of my fairy mother always moved to solve the most difficult problem ever faced by me. A legal mind reading the psychology of a psychologist daughter always rushed to help me and never minded spending sleepless nights with me. My stern looking father could never see tears in my eyes when I felt very tired of doing work and work all the time. The cheerful smile and sisterly fights of my loving younger sister Vibhuti Jaswal always kept me going in my studies. In fact I express my apologies towards my sweet sister because many a times I encroached upon the valuable time which she deserved from parents and grandparents. Fortunate am I to have the blessing of my grandparents. Though I could not complete my research during the lifetime of my Grandfather Shri Dharam Bir Arora yet his blessings from the heaven have been a great source of inspiration for me. My grandmother Smt. Prem Kanti Arora is an epitome of values, sacrifice and love. She stood like a pillar with me throughout my research work. She used to infuse energy in me whenever I was at the verge of losing heart. I cannot miss acknowledging the love, affection and inspiration given by my grandmother’s elder sister Smt. Sharda Narula.

I am particularly, thankful to the Chairperson, Department of Psychology and other faculty and non-teaching staff for their help. It was very difficult to name all those who contributed, in one way or the other, by their support and understanding, so I thank all the near and dear ones who stood by me during the period of research and beyond.
