Acknowledgments

This thesis would not have been complete had it not been for the contribution and assistance, intellectual and otherwise of innumerable individuals. I would like to express my sincere gratitude to all those who have helped me realise my long cherished dream of completing this thesis. In this moment I recall all the people who have helped me on my way to this end.

At the outset I express my profound gratitude to my Supervisor Dr. P.S. Verma, whose constant encouragement, expert advice and invaluable suggestions have gone a long way in shaping my thesis. Without his creative support I would not have been able to complete my work. In fact, he has enriched my knowledge on various issues and has helped me in understanding the intricacies of the problem.

My heartfelt thanks to all the members of the Department of Political Science, Panjab University, for their ever willing assistance. I would like to thank Dr. Ronki Ram for his valuable suggestions on the different aspects of the topic. I also express my gratitude to Prof. B.S. Brar, Dr. Ashutosh Kumar and Prof. Sanjay Chaturvedi for their guidance which was helpful in the completion of my work.

My special note of thanks to Dr. Pramod Kumar, Director, ‘Institute of Development and Communication’, Chandigarh, for his valuable insights into the problems germane to the study and also for being so kind allowing me access to consult the source materials in the library of the ‘Institute of Development and Communication’.
I would be failing in my duty if I do not thank the staff of A.C. Joshi Library, Panjab University for their cooperation and help.

I must register my profound obligation to all the Anglo-Indian respondents of the nine cities, who bore with me in replying to a long list of queries. My study would not have been possible without their support and cooperation.

My most sincere thanks go to Mr. Denzil Atkinson, nominated Anglo-Indian member to the thirteenth Lok Sabha, Mr. Francis Fanthome, the present Anglo-Indian member of Parliament, Ms. Karen Hilton, nominated Anglo-Indian MLA Uttrakhand, Mr. Peter Fanthome, MLA Uttar Pradesh, Mrs. Loren Lobo, MLA Madhya Pradesh, Ms. Roseline Bachmann, MLA Chattisgarh, Mr. Joseph Gaulstaun, MLA Jharkhand, Mrs. Christine Lazarus, MLA Andhra Pradesh, Mr. Oscar Nigli, MIA Tamil Nadu, Mr. Ivan Nigli, MLA Karnataka and Mr. Simon Britto Rodrigues, MLA Kerala, for their invaluable assistance.

A special vote of thanks to Mr. Stephen Da’ Costa, Vice-President and Mr. Malcolm Boothe, Secretary, ‘The All-India Anglo-Indian Association’ Delhi, who were extremely generous with their time and for allowing access to the records and documents of ‘The All-India Anglo-Indian Association’. I also wish to thank Mr. A. Roberts, Secretary, Mrs. De’Rozario, Office Secretary of ‘The All India Anglo-Indian Association’ Chandigarh, for all the help and support provided during the present research. My most sincere thanks and appreciation to Mr. R.V. Gardner, President, Mr. David Hilton, Secretary and Mr. Gregory Mann, Treasurer of ‘The All India Anglo-Indian Association’ branch at Dehradun, for their kind cooperation whenever I approached them.
I owe a special debt of gratitude to Mr. G.K. Francis, President, ‘Anglo-Indian Association of Southern India,’ Chennai, Mr. Joss Fernandez, President, ‘Anglo-Indian Guild,’ Bangalore, Mr. Charles Dias, Secretary, ‘Union of Anglo-Indian Association,’ Kerala, for providing me details of their respective organisations and sharing with me their perceptions on the Anglo-Indian community.

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to Mr. Harry MacLure, Editor, ‘Anglos in the Wind,’ Chennai, Mr. Melvyn Brown, Editor, ‘Newsletter,’ Kolkatta, Fr. Thomas Acchainikal, Administrator, Chandigarh-Shimla Diocese, Fr. Valentine and Pastor S.M. Batti of Ambala for sharing their knowledge that enormously helped me in enriching my understanding of the Anglo-Indian community and their problems.

Special thanks for my family and relatives for their perpetual emotional intervention and support that encouraged me to complete my work. I am in a loss of words to express my gratitude to them all.

The acknowledgement would not be complete without expressing my thanks to Ranbir, Pritam, Teja, Pratap, Vijay and Satinder for their kind cooperation in errands and transportation. To Mr. Ĵasmer Chowdhary of ‘Academic Staff College’, Panjab University, Chandigarh, I owe special gratitude for his proficiency in formatting the draft.
