ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It is not possible to express all my thanks in terms of the kindheartedness, tireless work, total dedication and excellent constant constructive criticisms showed to me by my esteemed teacher and guide Dr. (Mrs.) Malvinder Ahuja (Reader), Department of Education, Panjab University, Chandigarh. Her professional competence, coupled with resourcefulness, constant feedback and an ever-encouraging spirit, attitude and strong zeal enabled me to complete this research project in time.

Many thanks go to Prof. Anand Bashan for his valuable suggestions and recommendations at all times of need.

I would also like to thank Prof. Tehal Kohli, Chairperson, Department of Education, Panjab University, Chandigarh, for her administrative guidance accorded to me. I can not forget to thank my teacher and friend Dr. G.S. Sodhi (Reader) for members of the Faculty of Education (teaching and non-teaching) and Dr. Suresh Sharma, Department of Statistics, Panjab University, Chandigarh, for their kindheartedness shown to me throughout the duration of this research Project.

My gratefulness goes to the inspiration and wisdom of many academic thinkers and researchers for their transgression and great opinions, views and roots of wisdom. I gracefully acknowledge their thoughts and work, which became the cornerstone of this Research investigation.

I also wish to thank some senior members of the academic staff, Department of Psychology, Education, my colleagues (Research Scholars), and teachers from the schools whom I consulted during the development of my instructional packages. I really appreciate their contributions.

The Principals and Teachers of Government Model Secondary School Sector 10A, Government Model Secondary School Sector 22A, Director Principal Shivalik Public School, Sector 41B and Director Principal Shishu Niketan Model Secondary School, Sector 22B, Chandigarh, teachers and students of these institutions who welcomed me in their midst at the time of data collection need special mention in this Research Study.

I would also like to thank the Chairman, Centre for Computer Science and Application, Panjab University, Chandigarh, for having helped me in statistical computation of my raw data.

I also thank the Governments of Kenya, Government of India (GOK GOI) who awarded me Commonwealth Scholarship Fellowship Plan through the Indian Council for Cultural Relations (ICCR) as the major executing agency. My employer, The Teachers Service Commission (TSC) and The Director, KESI for granting me study leave.

It will be a great mistake if I don’t thank my beloved parents, Mzee N.Ogogo Ogembo, Mama Lydia Olonde Ogogo and Chadley Habib Omondi, Wycliffe L.Ogogo, Evans Okumu Omondi, Lynet Jescia, Eric and Elizabeth Nduuti for their support and encouragement.

Many people contributed directly or indirectly towards the development, execution and successful completion of this Research Project. I owe my deepest regards and gratefulness to Mr. J.S. O’ Bonyo, SDDE (FOS) and Mrs. Penninah Nyalandu (EOI), Ministry of Education, Science and Technology, Kenya, Mr. John Lodlaga, Director (PIU), Nairobi, Kenya. Mr. Daniel Danny Walsh Wainaina Mwangi Kariuki (Ph.D), Research Scholar, Department of Biochemistry, Panjab University, Chandigarh, Mr. Hezron Mwangi (Ph.D), Research Scholar, Department of Education, Panjab University, Patiala, Miss. Karen Atieno Oyiengo (Ph.D), Research Scholar, Department of Education, Jamia Ismailia Muslim University, Delhi, Mr. Prasanna Riechi (Ph.D), Research Scholar, Department of Education, JNU-Delhi, Mr. George Odhiambo Ogada, Dr. Catherine Wanjuika Kamau, Department of Education, Catholic University of Eastern Africa (CUEA), Nairobi, Kenya for the love and encouragement and my fiancée Miss. Lakhib Kaur, for her compassionate love and encouragement and understanding which helped me concentrate fully and devote my time to this Research Project.

Lastly, M/s Kaizen Graphics, Sector 15, Chandigarh needs a special mention for putting in their maximum professional expertise by painstakingly typing this Research Project.
