ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This research work has been completed under the supervision of Prof. (Mrs.) Raj Mohini Sethi, Chairperson, Department of Sociology, Panjab University, Chandigarh. I express my gratitude to her for guidance, assistance and critical evaluation throughout the period of this study. I wish to remain grateful to her for her co-operation and utmost patience without which this work could never have been completed. Her painstaking efforts in improving the quality of the work at all stages, have been of inestimable value. In fact, I have no words to express my gratitude to her.

I am also thankful to Prof. K. Gopal Iyer, the then Chairman of the Department of Sociology, Panjab University, Chandigarh, for providing all possible help during the course of the research work.

I owe a debt of gratitude to the Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR) for awarding me a partial research fellowship. The financial assistance provided by them has made it easy to complete the task.

I am deeply indebted to the respondents for the patience they have shown in attending to my long drawn quest for information and for confidence they have reposed in me. Needless to emphasize, this research work could never have been written without their co-operation. My special thanks goes to the resource persons who went out of way to help to me. I am also thankful to Mr. Sunil of Mittal Computers for diligently and patiently typing the draft. And lastly, I am thankful to my friends Anu, Anjali, Israt, Geeta and Devananand, all from Giri Institute of Development Studies, Lucknow, for extending all the moral support and strength to continue with the present work.
