ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The investigator wishes to express his sincerest gratitude and sense of profound indebtedness to his highly esteemed supervisor Dr. (Mrs.) Sudha Banth, Department of Psychology, Panjab University, Chandigarh India for her encouraging, consistent guidance with valuable comments and suggestions. In fact her patience and constructive criticism made it possible to undertake and complete this research work.

I own sincere gratitude to Dr. (Mrs.) P. Verma, Chairperson, Department of Psychology, Panjab University, Chandigarh India, for her valuable help in statistical analysis and interpretation of data.

I am highly thankful to Dr. L.S. Minhas and Dr. J.M. Jerath, Department of Psychology, Panjab University, for their inspiration, academic help and consistent encouragement.

I am pleased to acknowledge the encouragement and cooperation I got from Dr. P. Vasudeva, Dr. Mohammad G. Yousefi, Dr. Seid Sadroddin Mousavi during the span of this research work.

I owe my thanks to Mr. Anil Dhawan, Computer Centre, Panjab University, for his help in the computational work.

My sincere thanks to all the students, teachers, principals of high schools of India and Iran for their cooperation in the collection of data. I consider it my foremost duty to acknowledge my indebtedness to The Government of Islamic Republic of Iran to carry out this research for providing me with financial support. I am also thankful to The Government of India, Panjab University in helping me to stay in India and complete my research work smoothly and the kind people of India from whom I learnt more than simply an academic work exercise.

Last but not the least, I take pleasure in acknowledging my debt to my dear wife, Sedigheh Fazel. She stood with me in all the agonizing moments and shared all my grief. Special thanks also are offered to my dear children - Elham, Elaheh, Razieh and Amir Hossein. They missed me for a long period and shared my burden with patience.

Aminollah Fazel