ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

In 1978, I undertook a small piece of research on socio-economic development of a village. Two years later, I joined Population Research Centre (PRC), Panjab University, Chandigarh, with a hope to carry forward my research interest. Over these thirty long years, many times I tried to enrol for Ph.D programme but my desire remained buried under the heavy pressures of planning, execution and completion of time bound projects. My nature of ‘never say no’ to anyone who came for research assistance consumed most of my little time I was left with. I am indebted to Prof. H.S. Shergill, who inspired to manoeuvre my energies and encouraged me to enrol for Ph.D under him. But I could not continue due to the vicious circle of completion and initiation of projects in PRC.

It was only in 2006 that Dr. Gurmail Singh prodded me to start afresh. I am really grateful to Dr. Gurmail Singh for his unabated inspiration, consistent encouragement, and constructive suggestions throughout this research work. I am extremely thankful to him for helping me at every stage of this work.

I am thankful to Prof. (Mrs.) Mohinderjit K. Teja, Director PRC permitting me to enrol for Ph.D enrolment and consistent encouragement to complete the present work. Thanks are also due to Dr. (Ms) Reena Singh, Deputy Director and other colleagues in Population Research Centre for their co-operation, encouragement and useful suggestions.

Thanks to Prof. (Mrs) Upinder Sawhney, Chairperson, other faculty members and administrative staff of the Department of Economics for their cooperation and assistance throughout the course of my research.
In the course of the thesis, I had the privilege of association and intellectual discussions with Prof. Autar S. Dhesi, Prof. S.C. Vaidya, Prof. A.C. Julka, and Prof. B.S. Ghuman. I must record my sincere gratitude to all of them.

I would like to acknowledge the support of my friends, Prof. Satish K. Sharma and Dr. Charanjeev Singh for meticulously going through the draft and giving many invaluable suggestions. Thanks are also due to Dr. (Mrs) Kulbir Kaur, Mr. Sumit Kumar and Dr. Pawan K. Sharma for many useful comments and suggestions.

Lastly, I would like to express my gratitude to my family for all their love and encouragement. For my parents, who raised me with love of hard work and supported me in all my pursuits. And most of all, for my loving, supportive, encouraging and patient wife Jaswinder, who faithfully supported during the all stages of my Ph.D. Finally debt is due to my children, Ms Mandep Kaur, MCA and Er. Sukhdeep Singh for their forbearance tolerance and bemused understanding of their father’s long period of truncated aloofness.
