ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Throughout my personal and professional experiences, I have built my conceptualization of the human being as a social and spiritual being with a purpose in life. The human being has some innate abilities or resources and others are acquired through the interaction with other human beings in the environment, which makes them capable of making decisions. One of my purposes at a professional level, which I discovered during my childhood, was to serve the community.

The words of Prophet (Kahlil Gibran) and Vivekananda always inspired me- “Take up one idea. Make that one idea your life - think of it, dream of it, live on that idea. Let the brain, muscles, nerves, every part of your body, be full of that idea, and just leave every other idea alone. This is the way to success that is way great spiritual giants are produced.”

I hated to become a medical doctor and only way to earn that initials was to do a Ph.D. I discovered that I wanted to contribute to the body of knowledge of my profession, to the development of research in Communication and above all to the health and well-being of society. I have given myself the opportunity to wish and dream throughout my life. I have reached my professional goals, not only because of my innate abilities, but because I have had the opportunity of meeting wonderful human beings that have contributed to my life with knowledge, words of support, and motivation. First of all I thank you God, for life, health, and the energy that you have given me to reach my professional goals.

I have not travelled in a vacuum in this journey. This thesis has been kept on track and been seen through to completion with the support and encouragement of numerous people including my well wishers, my friends, colleagues and various institutions. At the end of my thesis I would like to thank all those people who made this thesis possible and an unforgettable experience for me. At the end of my thesis, it is a pleasant task to express my thanks to all those who contributed in many ways to the success of this study and made it an unforgettable experience for me.

At this moment of accomplishment, first of all I thank my Supervisor Dr. Archana R Singh, thank you for sharing your expertise, answer my questions. I will never forget your interest and patience. You are a very humanitarian professor, thank you for being so special. Thank you for your trust in me and for your support. To the chairperson, SCS, Jayanth N Pethkar (Panjab University) for being supportive and encouraging.
To Dr. Manoj Patairiya of NCSTC (DST) and Dr. Harjinder Singh Walia (Punjabi University) thank you for opening my eyes and showing the world of science communication and opening the doors of your office in such a spontaneous and accommodating way. The road to my Ph.D started with having a tour of what is happening around the country in the area of science communication and visit to National Council for Science and Technology Communication (NCSTC, DST) New Delhi. Dr. Patairiya’s expertise and interest in science communication had a lasting effect on me.

To the staff and the research scholars of the School of Communication in the University especially Neha Miglani and Mukesh Kumar who gave me support in the difficult times, thank you for support in the research. Mr. L D Kala, (IIT Delhi) thank you for your excellent recommendations especially in the area of research instruments. Dr. Bruce Lewenstein (Cornell University) and Dr. Subodh Mohanti (Vigyan Prasar) for sending important papers and your recommendations to improve the synthesis of literature were vital in the development of this thesis.

To my Dad, Dr. Rajender Batra, thank you for your words “have a strong will power and keep striving hard... the never say no attitude.” Thank you for always encouraging me and and lifting me uphill this phase of life. I owe everything to them. To my special mother Mrs. Usha Batra, thank you for always being available to take care of my kids when I had to attend conferences or write a paper. You gave me the motivating words I needed to continue. You know how much I value your time, knowledge, and everything you did for me. I genuinely thank you. To my Sister Arti and Brother-in-law, Piyush. Besides this, several people have knowingly and unknowingly helped me in the successful completion of this project. To my father in law, Mr. R. L Arora and my grandfather Dr. Brahmdev Batra who would have really been happy to see it. I wish they shower their blessings from heaven, to see me fulfill my aim. To my relatives and friends especially Mr. Manohar L Janweja and Mrs. Archana Janweja, your prayers, good wishes, and love are specially treasured in my heart. Thank you my beloved husband, Mr. Umesh Arora, for your love, comprehension, time and efforts. He was always beside me during the happy and hard moments to push me and motivate me. I can see the good shape of my thesis because of his help and suggestions in the entire thesis. A journey is easier when you travel together. Interdependence is certainly more valuable than independence. To my children Anupam and Anmol, thank you because just your presence was enough to keep me on the right track. We did it!!

We did it!!
