Acknowledgments

This thesis arose in part out of research that has been done with the help of all those who in many ways are helpful and their suggestions made this research possible. It is a pleasure to convey my gratitude to them all in my humble acknowledgment.

In the first place I would like to record my regards and gratitude to Dr. H.S. Bajwa, Professor, Department of Education, Panjab University, Chandigarh and Dr. Sunil Dutt, Associate Professor, NITTTR, Sector 26, Chandigarh for their supervision, advice, and guidance from the very early stage of this research. The journey from start to the end of research work was never possible without their support. Above all and the most needed, they provided me unflinching encouragement and support in various ways. I am indebted to them more than they know. They were constant source of inspiration and encouragement. I owe a never-ending sense of thanks to them for their unselfishly intellectual support and guidance.

I express my profound thanks to Dr. (Mrs.) Malvinder Ahuja, Chairperson, Department of Education, Panjab University, Chandigarh for providing me the opportunity for this research work. I would also like to thank Mr. S.K. Bhandari, librarian and other administrative staff of department of education for their help and cooperation.

Furthermore, I would like to thank all principals of educational colleges for their support and providing me an opportunity for collecting data from their colleges. I also thank all the respondents for their cooperation in data collection.

I owe a never-ending sense of regards and gratitude to my principal Dr. Harsh Batra for her cooperation and support. I wish to express my thanks to my friends and my colleagues Dr. Renu Verma, Dr. Mukheraji and Dr. Vandana for their encouragement and guidance.

I express my profound thanks to my husband Er. Vikramjit Singh. He believes in me, before I believe myself. Words fail to express deep sense of gratitude to him for his support in the moment of stress and anxiety.

My parents deserve special mention for their inseparable support and prayers. My father in the first place is the person who shaped up my learning character, showing me the joy of intellectual pursuit ever since I was a child. My Mother is the one who sincerely raised me with her caring and gently love. I owe a never ending sense of regards and gratitude to my mother-in-law for taking care of my son in my absence and providing me encouragement and support.

I also thank the almighty for bestowing me with opportunities and the strength to complete my work. It is a divine grace that has lead to successful completion of this research work.
Last but not least I would like to thank my son Angad for being my inspiration. I am indebted to my son who has been ignored and some times has to live without my care and love during this period of research work.

Finally, I would like to thank everybody who was important to the successful realization of this thesis, as well as expressing my apology that I could not mention personally one by one.
