I wish I had the power of music to reach hearts and convey my feelings without having to put the oceanic concepts in the tight frames of words! I wish I could play a great symphony of gratitude for those beloved guides and friends who have helped me to undertake research on the supreme mystery of music and mind. However, I have to be content with the humble words to express my feelings. So first of all I express my profound sense of gratitude to my guru and guide Professor J. M. Jerath for his extreme kindness, invaluable help and insightful guidance. He is an exceptionally great teacher. Having him as my guide was the greatest blessing for me.

Words fail me and I do not know how to describe my sense of gratitude, and appreciation of what my teacher and life partner Professor L. S. Minhas has contributed to this investigation. His artistic soul has opened my eyes to the wonderful world of art and beauty. Undertaking this fascinating journey, i.e., to wonder and contemplate on the divinity of music, would not have been possible if I did not have Dr. Minhas’s aesthetic sensitivity and his understanding of the meaning of aesthetic creation. His insights lit my path. I am so grateful to him!

I conceived the idea of struggling to discover the mystery of music when my beloved father sang beautiful songs for me in my childhood and filled my life with music. My parents have been the main source of inspiration for me, in any step I have taken towards knowing more and doing more. Thinking about their greatness, I bow my head and feel too humbled to offer my thanks to them!

After long years of having my roots above soil, and not knowing where my home land was, I got a home in YPS, the school, wherein, I worked and conducted my research work. I am so extremely grateful to Principal (Dr. Harish Dhillon), Vice principal (Mrs. Komal Singh) and lovely children of this school for being so exceptionally kind, considerate and helpful to me while I was perusing this research. One great thing about YPS School is that I discovered two exceptionally beautiful young souls there. One is Priya Dhillon and Another Sahiba Punia. Priya is Love, Sahiba is Care. Could I work without these two? Sahiba has helped me at every stage of this research, the way no one else could. She is a blessing! I have no words to thank her.

My affectionate thanks to dear Bi Jee, my mother in law, Professor Bhopinder Singh, my brother in law, and Bhabhi Jee, Dr. Dalip Kaur Tiwana for their guidance, emotional support and blessings.

Undertaking any serious work requires initiative and courage. My dear friends: Dr. Manreet Riar and Dr. Monika Kalsia encouraged me and gave me a sense of security to undertake this work. I feel so grateful to them.

I remain deeply indebted to the chairperson and all the faculty members of the Department of Psychology, Panjab University, Chandigarh, for their kind help, cooperation and support.

The most touching part! Thanking melodies of my life, my sons: Arash and Araz. The motivation, the inspiration, the love..... They have been the source of energy. They have been life!

Above all I offer my thanks to the founders of scientific thinking who explained that no thought, no idea is of any use if it is not put in some kind of use to make this world a better place to live. Those who showed the path by saying that “The philosophers have only interpreted the world in various ways; the point, however, is to change it”.
