ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

On the successful completion of my Ph.D thesis, I express sincere gratitude to my distinguished supervisor, Dr Jai Narain Sharma, Professor, Department of Gandhian Studies, Panjab University, Chandigarh. I would at first like to thank him for his judicious and scholarly guidance, continued and active interest, sustained encouragement, constructive criticism and sagacious counseling at every stage of my work and without his support this thesis would not have materialized. It was a unique experience of working under his guidance.

I am thankful to Professor M. L. Sharma, Chairman, Department of Gandhian Studies, Panjab University, Chandigarh for his kind cooperation.

I owe immense gratitude to Dr. (Ms) Ashu Pasricha, whose keen perception, pieces of advice, words of inspiration and immense knowledge enabled me to accomplish this thesis. I am also thankful to Dr. Munish Sharma and Dr. Seema Pasricha for their kind cooperation during my research work.
The home matters the most when one is trying to pursue a research work. I am highly thankful to my parents and my sisters Dr. Bindu Aggarwal and Jyoti Mahendru and my brother Deepak Aggarwal for their kind cooperation, sincerity and affection at every step of my life.

My husband Mr. Munish Dhir also deserves a special thanks for his sense of adjustment, sharing of responsibilities and providing me enough space to complete this work.

Thanks are due to my little son Amulya who behaved like an angel and his charming face let me pursue my thesis without disturbance. The naughty little gang of my family Riya, Shreya, Tanishta, Vanshika, Saksham and Manan also encouraged me a lot with their innocent chit-chat to complete this work.

I am also grateful to Prof. Jagmohan Singh, Principal, Malwa College Bondli Samrula for his constructive, well informed and lively discussions which benefited me during my course of studies.

My friends Mahoua, Ganshyam, Amir, Neeru, Neelam Nayyar, Nishu, Dr. Harish and Dr. Jaspal also deserve a special thanks for their being very affectionate to me. They are not only my moral supporters but also strong critics.

I am thankful to all my students and well wishers for their overwhelming support and cooperation during my research work.

Special thanks to Dr. K.K. Sharma for his valuable comment.

I am also grateful to the Librarian, A. C. Joshi Library, Panjab University, Chandigarh for helping me in procuring the relevant material for my study. Facilities provided by The British Library, Chandigarh, State Library, Chandigarh, National Gandhi Museum, New Delhi and The American Library, New Delhi are acknowledged with thanks. At this juncture, I also would like to thank the Almighty who has given me strength to complete this research work.

Ranjan Bala