The striving of the thesis has been to widen the view of nuclear disarmament to global proportions. Moreover, it tries to serve not only the country of the scholar, but also the whole mankind. This is the main value premise by which the thesis seek to present the reason for nuclear disarmament, from non-aligned perspective.

I am grateful to my Supervisor, Prof. K. K. Pathak, Chairman, Department of Political Science, Panjab University, Chandigarh, whose philosophic mind questioned and probed the chapters of this thesis with rationality. His fatherly care and advice will ever remain in my memory. I wish him and his entire family the blessings of God throughout their lives.

It was entirely difficult for me to continue my research until, the following persons did not help me with their finance; Late Dr. Ajit Singh, Dr. Kulwant Kaur, Frank Kamalu, Kingslay Opara, Victor Opara, Benjamin Egwunwoke, Hillary Nguma, Paul Esika, Festus Nbagwu, David Usoh and John Emesaraonye. I am indeed grateful to them.

My thanks goes to Panjab University Library and its staff for making books and periodicals available for my research. I also seize this grate opportunity to thank the United Nations, Department for Disarmament Affairs, New York. The whole material used in disarmament processes was made available by them. Department of Peace and Conflict Research, Uppsala University, Uppsala Sweden, sent to me valuable material which helped me to know the right books to research with. I am grateful to Prof. Richard Swedberg of the Stockholms Universitet Sociologiska Institutionen Sweden, for introducing me to the above Department. Material for disarmament and development was provided by the Stockholm International Peace Research Institute, Bergshamra, Solna - Sweden. The publishers' of the Review of International Affairs (News paper publishing Institution - Jugoslovenska) provided me with the documents of the declarations of the Summits of non-aligned countries from Belgrade to Harare. Indian Council of World Affairs Library - SAPRU HOUSE, New Delhi, provided me relevant books. Their hostel made me feel at home while in Delhi. I also acknowledge with thanks the free books from Indian Institute for Non-Aligned Studies, New Delhi.

My thanks are also due to Prof. T. R. Sharma, Prof. Pam Rajput, Dr. Ritu Sharma, Dr. Mrs. Tikku, Dr. B.S. Brar, Dr. Pradeep Kumar, Dr. P.S.Verma, Prof. Pimpley and Yogindra Yadav. I appreciate their candid thoughts.

My elder brother Mr. L. D. Okere and my step brother Hyacinth are special in my life. Dr. Vivian Okere has equally helped me financially, I am grateful to him. I thank my sisters and all my relatives men and women for their moral support.

I am grateful to all my friends especially Mr. Chuks Ugoh and his entire family. His wife Mrs. Christiana Ugoh nursed me as her own husband when I suffered from infection. I lack words to express my gratitude to her. Her little daughter Ugochi was a source of joy to me. Others are Mr. Christopher Oku, Dr. O. C. Nworgu, Mike Nwubani, John Okolo, Lazarus Okoroji, Dr. Obisensa, Austine Agbogho, Emmanuel Unichi, Kennedy, Kevin Ohamara, Miss Susan Nabwana, Gyprain Udeh, Dennis Chiedo, Felix Unaji, Ikechukwu Emeruom, Joseph Onyekwera, Innocent Oriaku, Cyira Ikom Cyira, Alexius Amadi, Charanjit Singh, and Mr. Paramjit Singh the Librarian of the Political Science Department, Library. I am thankful to many other friends whose names are not mentioned here.

Finally I thank Miss Chandrika Parmar and Ms Sugandha Pimpley for the proof reading and editing of this thesis respectively. I equally thank Mr. Jatinder Kumar for painstaking typing of this work. I thank my wife Teresa for her patience.

Any errors in this thesis is my responsibility.
