ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

On the completion of the present thesis, I am overwhelmed with a sense of gratitude for all those who have helped me in this task. Foremost, my sincerest thanks are due to my guide, Dr. (Mrs) Vidhu Mohan whose intellectual and scientific perfectionism went a long way in shaping the present piece of research. Her deeply analytical mind with emphasis on excellence, patient guidance, encouragement and understanding were instrumental in the creation and presentation of this thesis. I regard it a matter of great privilege to have worked under her as a research scholar.

I am thankful to Dr. (Mrs) H.K. Nijhavan, Head of the Department of Psychology, for providing the necessary facilities.

I express my thanks to Dr. J. Mohan for imparting helpful and valuable suggestions whenever the need arose.

I am thankful to Mr. Pyne, Principal, Indo-Swiss Training Centre, Mr. Chander Mohan, Managing Director, Punjab Tractors Ltd and Mr. D.S. Brar, Managing Director Accumeasures Punjab Ltd. for very kindly providing subjects for my data collection.

I extend a word of thanks to Mr. P.K. Verma, Manager Personnel & Administration Punjab Tractors Ltd., and Mr. G.S. Dhillion, Production Manager, Accumeasures Punjab Ltd., for their help whenever I needed it.
I am greatly indebted to Professor D.C. McClelland, Dr. Durand, Dr. P.S. Hundal, Dr. K.G. Agrawal and Dr. S. Singh for very kindly sending me reprints of their works.

My appreciation and special thanks are offered to Dr. E.B.L. Vohra and Dr. Dalip Kumar to whom a special debt of gratitude is owed for their generous help and encouragement as and when the need arose.

A special word of thanks is due to Miss Rita Narula and Dr. (Miss) Surinder Gill who not only helped me a great deal but also encouraged me throughout.

I am highly grateful to Mr. C.H. Behl, Chief Programmer, for cheerfully helping me solve the computational problems.

To Mr. J.L. Bajaj a word of thanks is necessary for typing the thesis conscientiously.

I cannot overlook the gratitude I owe to my husband, to my parents, brother and specially to my daughters, Ritika and Sunamika, for sharing my burden from time to time. They made it possible for me to carry out this research with their understanding and help whenever I needed it.

(Anita Bhanot)
Research Scholar, Panjab University.