5.3 Showing observed frequencies, expected frequencies and the value of \(X^2\) concerning the relevance of evaluation techniques to the objectives of teaching mathematics (cognitive domain) at the Elementary stage.

5.8 Showing observed frequencies, expected frequencies and the value of \(X^2\) concerning the relevance of methods of teaching to the objectives of teaching mathematics (psycho-motor domain) at the Elementary stage.

5.9 Showing observed frequencies, expected frequencies and the value of \(X^2\) concerning the relevance of evaluation techniques to the objectives of teaching mathematics (psycho-motor domain) at the Elementary stage.

5.10 Showing observed frequencies, expected frequencies and the value of \(X^2\) concerning the relevance of curriculum to the objectives of teaching mathematics (cognitive domain) at the secondary stage.

5.11 Showing observed frequencies, expected frequencies and the value of \(X^2\) concerning the relevance of methods of teaching to the objectives of teaching mathematics (cognitive domain) at the secondary stage.
5.12 Showing observed frequencies, expected frequencies and the value of $X^2$ concerning the relevance of evaluation techniques to the objectives of teaching mathematics (cognitive domain) at the secondary stage.

5.13 Showing observed frequencies, expected frequencies and the value of $X^2$ concerning the relevance of curriculum to the objectives of teaching mathematics (affective domain) at the secondary stage.

5.14 Showing observed frequencies, expected frequencies and the value of $X^2$ concerning the relevance of methods of teaching to the objectives of teaching mathematics (affective domain) at secondary stage.

5.15 Showing observed frequencies, expected frequencies and the value of $X^2$ concerning the relevance of evaluation techniques to the objectives of teaching mathematics (affective domain) at secondary stage.

5.16 Showing observed frequencies, expected frequencies and the value of $X^2$ concerning the relevance of curriculum to the objectives of teaching mathematics (psycho-motor domain) at secondary stage.

5.17 Showing observed frequencies, expected frequencies and the value of $X^2$ concerning the relevance of methods of teaching to the objectives of teaching mathematics (psycho-motor domain) at secondary stage.

5.18 Showing observed frequencies, expected frequencies and the value of $X^2$ concerning techniques to the objectives of teaching mathematics (psycho-motor domain) at secondary stage.

5.19 Showing observed frequencies, expected frequencies and the value of $X^2$ concerning the relevance of curriculum to the objectives of teaching mathematics (cognitive domain) at senior secondary stage.

5.20 Showing observed frequencies, expected frequencies and the value of $X^2$ concerning the relevance of methods of teaching to the objectives of teaching mathematics (cognitive domain) at senior secondary stage.
5.21 Showing observed frequencies, expected frequencies and the value of $X^2$ concerning the relevance of evaluation techniques to the objectives of teaching mathematics (cognitive domain) at the senior secondary stage.

5.22 Showing observed frequencies, expected frequencies and the value of $X^2$ concerning the relevance of curriculum to the objectives of teaching mathematics (affective domain) at the senior secondary stage.

5.23 Showing observed frequencies, expected frequencies and the value of $X^2$ concerning the relevance of methods of teaching to the objectives of teaching mathematics (affective domain) at the senior secondary stage.

5.24 Showing observed frequencies, expected frequencies and the value of $X^2$ concerning the relevance of evaluation techniques to the objectives of teaching mathematics (affective domain) at the senior secondary stage.

5.25 Showing observed frequencies, expected frequencies and the value of $X^2$ concerning the relevance of curriculum to the objectives of teaching mathematics (psycho-motor domain) at the senior secondary stage.

5.26 Showing observed frequencies, expected frequencies and the value of $X^2$ concerning the relevance of methods of teaching to the objectives of teaching mathematics (psycho-motor domain) at the senior secondary stage.

5.27 Showing observed frequencies, expected frequencies and the value of $X^2$ concerning the relevance of evaluation techniques to the objectives of teaching mathematics (psycho-motor domain) at the senior secondary stage.

5.28 Showing values of co-efficient of correlation between curriculum methods of teaching and evaluation techniques (in all the three domain) at elementary stage (N=270).

5.29 Showing values of co-efficient of correlation between curriculum, methods of teaching and evaluation techniques (in all the three domains) at the secondary stage (N=175).
5.30 Showing values of co-efficient of correlation between curriculum, methods of teaching and evaluation techniques (in all the three domains) at senior secondary stage (N=70).

5.31 Showing t-ratios to locate difference in the attainment of objectives related to cognitive, affective and psycho-motor domains through curriculum, methods of teaching and evaluation techniques at Elementary Stage.

5.32 Showing t-ratios to locate difference in the attainment of objectives in cognitive, affective and psycho-motor domains conjointly through curriculum, methods of teaching and evaluation techniques at Elementary Stage.

5.33 Showing t-ratios to locate difference in the attainment of objectives at three levels of domain i.e. cognitive, affective and psycho-motor at Elementary Stage.

5.34 Showing t-ratios to locate difference in the attainment of objectives related to cognitive, affective and psycho-motor domains through curriculum, method of teaching and evaluation techniques at Secondary Stage.

5.35 Showing t-ratios to locate differences in the attainment of objectives in cognitive, affective and psycho-motor domains conjointly through curriculum, methods of teaching and evaluation techniques at Secondary Stage.

5.36 Showing t-ratios to locate differences in the attainment of objectives at three levels of domain i.e. cognitive, affective and psycho-motor at Secondary Stage.

5.37 Showing t-ratios to locate differences in the attainment of objectives related to cognitive, affective and psycho-motor domains through curriculum, methods of teaching and evaluation techniques at Senior Secondary Stage.

5.38 Showing t-ratios to locate differences in the attainment of objectives in cognitive, affective and psycho-motor domain through curriculum, methods of teaching and evaluation techniques at Senior Secondary Stage.

5.39 Showing t-ratios to locate differences in the attainment of objectives at three levels of domain i.e. cognitive, affective and psycho-motor at Senior Secondary Stage.
5.40 Showing t-ratios to locate differences among elementary, secondary and senior secondary stages in respect of relevance of curriculum methods of teaching and evaluation techniques to the attainment of objectives of teaching mathematics.

6.1(a) Showing relevant informations on Teacher Information Proforma for Elementary Teachers (n=270) 176

6.1(b) Showing relevant informations on Teacher Information proforma for Elementary Teachers. 193

6.1(c) Showing relevant informations on Teacher Information proforma for Elementary Teachers. 194

6.2(a) Showing relevant informations on Teacher Information proforma for Secondary Teachers. 209

6.2(b) Showing relevant informations on Teacher Information Proforma for Secondary Teachers. 210

6.2(c) Showing relevant information on Teacher Information Proforma for Secondary Teachers. 211-212

6.3(b) Showing relevant information on Teacher Information Proforma for Senior Secondary Teachers. 228

6.3(c) Showing relevant information on Teacher Information Proforma for Senior Secondary Teachers. 229

6.3(c) Showing relevant information on Teacher Information Proforma for Senior Secondary Teachers. 230-231

6.4 Showing comparative picture of the information on Teacher Information Proforma for Elementary, Secondary and Senior Secondary Teachers. 246-247
